Tydings Asks Government To Send Aid to MacArthur

Senator Asserts Administration Lacks Courage

Proposes Wendell Willkie Be Given High Government Position

Criticizes Appointment of Landis as Civilian Defense Head

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Senator Tydings (D-Md.), roundly criticizing the administration's conduct of the war, today called on the government to speed a heavily guarded convoy of reinforcements to General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines or the British at Singapore.

"This war cannot be won on the defense," he shouted. "Japan is inferior in manpower, in productivity, in planes, in weapons and in her navy. But she is on the offensive and she is winning thousands of miles from the Japanese islands themselves."

Asks Post for Willkie
He proposed that Wendell Willkie be given a high government place because he has shown an interest in winning this war and called for admirals and generals who will stand up to President Roosevelt if they feel any grave errors are being committed.

"There was a feeling in the minds of many," he said, "that our admirals and generals were 'told what to do' rather than themselves telling us under them what should be done."

"The Japanese," Tydings said, know what they want to do. They are willing to take a chance to do it. And, even though they are our enemies, they are fighting with great ability to do it. The nations opposed to them do not quite seem to know what they want to do, and their plan is, and they are fighting defensively to beat inferior positions."

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) broke in to say, however, that in view of the Pearl Harbor disaster he, for one, was willing to wait a little while before he condemned anyone to present strategy.

Scores Administration
Tydings accused the administration of lack of courage to deal with pressing problems. He said the government had become "an overgrown, monstrous, with an 'extravagant, wasteful bureaucracy' that was hampering the war effort."

One example of this, he said, was the so-called physical fitness program projected by the Office of Civilian Defense, a program which has aroused considerable controversy.

The Senate appropriations committee, of which Tydings is a member, approved a $160,000,000 deficiency bill today, retaining House amendments which would bar expenditure of any of $100,000,000 in civilian defense funds for dance instructions, "fan dancing, street shows and other public entertainments."

Tydings said he had suggested to James M. Landis, civilian defense director, that this physical fitness program might be eliminated, but Landis had contended it was necessary.

Landis, Tydings said, was as "unfit" for the OCD directorship as I am to be prime minister of the Church of England."

"We cannot control these appointments," Tydings went on. "And if a man fails in one place, why put him in another place, in a higher position, and at a better salary?"

"There was need, he said, for a different leadership from that which has been exhibited up to now, adding that it should be "a leadership of execution, a leadership of administration."

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 13. (AP)—The government brought its first charge of violation of the tire rationing program today when a Southern Indiana federal grand jury accused the La Salle Motors Corporation of Booneville, Ind., and one of its officers of making false statements as to the number of tires in hand when rationing began last December.

Laura Ingalls Is Found Guilty; Faces Jail Term

Axiatrix Convicted of Acting as Paid Agent of German Reich

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Laura Ingalls, speed fiend and self-styled "international Mata Hari," was convicted by a federal district court jury today on a charge that she acted as a paid agent of the German Reich without registering with the State department.

The jury of ten men and two women deliberated only a little more than an hour before returning the verdict. The maximum penalty for the offense is two years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Miss Ingalls, who admitted to accepting money from a German diplomat while she was promoting American neutrality last year, glared angrily as each juror intoned "guilty" when the court clerk asked for the verdict.

The prosecution had pictured her as an "enemy" of the country who accepted $300 a month from the German embassy to sow disunity. It produced witnesses to show she exulted in German victories, opposed Lend-Lease aid and British "propaganda."

Her campaign for neutrality was carried on in speeches under the auspices of the American First committee and other organizations. She herself insisted her aim was to become a patriotic Mata Hari conducting counter-espionage against the Germans. Her defense counsel said she was a supreme egotist and a "bit of a crackpot."

The aviatrix was smiling confidently as the jury filed into the box but her face became grim when the verdict was announced. She stood rigidly, hands clutching the counsel table, while the jury was being polled, then sat down quickly when Federal Judge James W. Morse thanked the panel.

Ordered to Jail
The judge then ordered the middle-aged flier committed to jail. She had been at liberty on $7,500 bail since her arrest last December.

Miss Ingalls' attorney, James F. Reilly, declined to say whether or not he would ask for a new trial or appeal the conviction.

Before the case went to the jury, Miss Ingalls had squirmed nervously.

Declares "Armchair Complacency" Must Be Brought to an End

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), denouncing "arm chair complacency," grimly warned the nation tonight that poison gas attacks on its great cities was in prospect if the Axis reached the point where it need fear no reprisal.

He expressed his views in an address prepared for delivery over the Red network of the National Broadcasting Company, a speech which Capitol Hill sources said was the first of a series of similar talks by Congressional leaders.

Lucas's discussion of the possibility of direct attack on the nation was given as details of disaster to allied arms came from two hemispheres.

Says We Can Lose
"We in America must get down to bed rock," the senator said. "We must concentrate upon only one objective, and that is winning the war. We must go on the theory that it can be lost, and not sit back quietly and say 'well, it may be a long war, but eventually we will win.'"

That was the pattern in France the senator continued, and "today her people are in bondage and slavery, suffering from the foulest tyrannical yoke that was ever placed upon human beings."

Lucas said of Japan that "her military and naval strength as well as her imperialistic designs have been woefully underestimated by all Americans."

Sees Chicago in Danger
If Japan masters the Far East, Lucas said her next move may be against Russia, the Aleutian Islands, and then Alaska.

And with air bases in Alaska, Chicago would be only four hours away for bombers and New York could be attacked by gas bombs, he said.

Up to this time gas has not been used by any of the nations at war, but you and I know that the totalitarian regimes who seek to destroy democracy everywhere would not hesitate one moment to use poison gas on our cities if they thought they could get away with it without retaliation," he said.

O'Connor Denies Playing Politics In Defense Work

Governor Replies to Republican Charge Made in Chicago

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 13. (AP)—Governor O'Connor termed as "wholly unfounded" today charges by a Republican party magazine that the Democratic state administration in Maryland was playing "petty, partisan politics" in civilian defense.

The Republican, national magazine of the Republican party published in Chicago, claiming that no Republicans had been appointed to Maryland defense committees, declared that the state administration's alleged tactics had resulted in "bungling, mismanagement and gross inefficiency."

O'Connor said in a statement:

"I cannot treat seriously and I will not dignify the comment of the Chicago Republican propaganda magazine by an extended reply."

"One has only to look at the list of our defense councils, with W. Frank Roberts, a Republican, as its head and with a number of outstanding citizens affiliated with the Republican party on the state and local defense councils to see that the report is wholly unfounded."

"Offhand, I understand that Glenn L. Martin, Robert O. Bonnell and George M. Moffett are among the Republicans on the state council. The truth is that there are a number of other persons who may be Republicans but whose affiliation I do not know and I never inquired into before appointment."

"Such irresponsible statements are for purely political purposes and are not designed to help the defense effort."

Federal Agents Round Up Japs On West Coast

Place Three Score under Arrest, Seize Guns and Radios

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13. (AP)—Federal agents, striking at Japanese colonies in both southern and northern California, added nearly three score today to the numbers of Japanese arrested and piled higher the stocks of guns and radios seized.

Fifty alien Japanese were arrested and large quantities of guns and radios confiscated by FBI agents, co-operating with local authorities, in raids in coastal Orange county south of Los Angeles.

Six Japanese were arrested in the San Francisco area, two of them reserve officers in the Imperial Japanese army who professed to their captors their loyalty to the Japanese cause. One of the six men arrested lived near Sunnyvale from which blimps are patrolling the coast on the lookout for Japanese submarines.

Jap Residences Searched
In extreme southern California, where FBI agents have been conducting daily raids in the San Diego area, a score of Japanese residences in transbay Coronado near the naval air station were searched, Harold Nathan, FBI chief of San Diego, said later, however, that no arrests were made and no contraband seized. In previous such searches in the same area, some ammunition was seized.

In the San Francisco area, twenty-five FBI agents, sheriff's officers and policemen participated in the raids, the third round-up within a week on the outskirts of a military unit in this area.

Thirty Japanese were questioned, but only three were held. The other three were arrested in San Francisco.

Among those arrested was Mosaburo Hoshi, who lived on property bordering Moffett field, west coast air corps training center, which the navy is about to take over. Blimps are based there. Nat J. L. Pieper, FBI agent in charge here, said a shotgun, ammunition, a shortwave radio and four flashlights were seized at Hoshi's home.

Other similar contraband was seized with the arrest of Takuritu Morita, secretary of the Japanese Association of Mountain View; and

Scharnhorst and Gneisenau May Join German Fleet in Sea Drive

Churchill and His Cabinet Severely Criticized in London

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, Feb. 13. (AP)—The Allies faced a bitter fight for control of the North Atlantic tonight after two German battleships and a heavy cruiser, battered but menacingly afloat, had gained the safety of Heigoland after a dash through the English channel and the North Sea that flouted more than a century of British naval history.

Fears were expressed openly in London that the 26,000-ton Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the 10,000-ton cruiser Prinz Eugen, now at safe anchor for repair and supply at the end of a 700-mile fighting race from their bomb trap at Brest, would rendezvous with a Nazi Atlantic fleet strong enough "to go wherever it likes—from the Orkneys to Long Island."

Churchill Under Fire

Coming as it did on top of the battle of Singapore and the British reverses in Africa, the humbling of British navy and air force in their own waters measurably swelled the roar of criticism of the present cabinet. Some persons thought that Prime Minister Churchill himself might have heavy going to stay in office. But against this was the belief that there was no one of his stature to take his place.

The battle, involving hundreds of planes and warships of varied sizes, was broken off after an almost suicidal attack by British destroyers off the mouth of The Netherlands' Scheldt. These destroyers pierced the strong screen of the big Nazi warships and launched their torpedoes at less than 5,000 yards; then escaped without the loss of a ship.

Comfort for British

The details of this assault provided almost the sole comfort tonight for the man on the street who realizes that a second-rate German navy has turned the English channel into a highway for Nazi ships. He knows also that Britain must now summon battleships, cruisers and destroyers to match the battle fleet which will be flying the Nazi design in the north and he wants to know why it could happen.

He was told today that the German squadron and its destroyers and mine-sweepers steamed for three hours in misty daylight yesterday before it was sighted and that it was almost under the noses of Dover's cross-channel guns when it finally was discovered.

Clouds Aid Germans

Tonight the official answer to this from the air ministry news service was that the Germans would not have got through the channel at all had it not been for thick weather which was "like a vast and persistent smokescreen." Sometimes the statement said, there were three distinct layers of cloud screening the flotilla.

At the same time the air ministry added the information that a "very powerful force of bombers of all types," including four-motored Halifaxes and Manchesteres, participated in the attack on the German warships.

When last seen in the North Sea the German heavy ships were making for base at twenty knots.

Their actual speed through the Strait of Dover yesterday, beneath a vast canopy of at least 200 Nazi fighter planes, was twenty-eight to thirty knots, for they made no attempt to evade.

Three Men Killed In Navy Blast

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—The navy reported today that three men were killed and four injured in a mid-afternoon explosion which wrecked an eight-foot square loading house in a southeast Washington naval magazine.

A board of investigation will study the case, the navy said. It added that there was no apparent evidence of sabotage.

The shattering blast broke windows and dishes over a two-mile area, residents reported, and was felt in Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac river.

JAP DIVE BOMBERS ATTACK IN BATAAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—The Japanese were reported today to be sending wave on wave of dive bombers against the American-Filipino forces on Bataan peninsula, presumably in an attempt to soften up the defenses for new infantry onslaughts.

Two bombers, a war department communiqué said, were shot down by American anti-aircraft fire.

General Douglas MacArthur advised, too, that the Japanese aircraft had inflicted heavy losses on some of their own troops mistaken for the American-Filipino army.

Victims of Own Bombers

Victims of the erroneous bombing were identified as elements of the One Hundred Twenty-second Regiment of Lieut. Gen. Akira Nara's division, one of the six divisions facing and overwhelmingly outnumbering MacArthur's little army.

The identification placed the attack on the defenders' right flank, joining Manila Bay presumably in the vicinity of the village of Pilar. Here the same regiment was mauled February 2, along with two others in one phase of the latest large-scale attack made against MacArthur's lines.

Military men said it was logical to believe that the boomerang bombing inflicted severe losses.

Heavy Toll Likely

The Japanese have been obliged to take "few precautions against attacks by the defenders' little guerrilla air force, whereas the Americans and Filipinos must be continuously on the alert against enemy bombers, and quick to take cover in foxholes and camouflaged shelters. Consequently, the mistake bomb-like caused much heavier casualties than those aimed at American-Filipino positions.

The air attack was accompanied by aggressive enemy patrol action which resulted in sporadic small-scale fighting.

Not since February 2 have the invaders undertaken a general offensive all along the battle line, which extends about midway across the 25-mile-long peninsula. Repeated attacks, including attempted landings from barges on the rugged South China sea coast, have been handled roughly.

Hope of Saving City Grows as British Attack

Terrific Battle Continues Seven Miles North of City

Stores Reopen and Feeling of Optimism Is Noticed

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 13. — Under massive air and artillery bombardment, Singapore still held out tonight and a surprisingly optimistic Reuters dispatch filed from the island metropolis in mid-morning said positions of the British defenders had been stabilized and that counter-attacks about seven miles north of the city "have met with some success."

Although later official advice indicated the city's known major water reservoirs were gone or imminently menaced and that the British line still was being slowly beaten back by the overwhelming Japanese force, the Reuters correspondent presented an amazing picture of a population confident that the invaders would be stopped short of their goal.

Launch Counter-Attacks

His dispatch filed at 10:30 a. m., Singapore time today (11:30 p. m., Thursday eastern war time) said British counter-attacks were carried out in the Jurong area, about seven miles to the northwest, and that they were believed to have stabilized the defense position.

West of the city, heavy fighting was reported along a line running from Pierce reservoir to Bukit Timah and Jurong and ending at Pasir Janjang on the south coast, about five miles from the island metropolis.

Then, in contrast to the pessimistic feeling in London, the Reuters correspondent presented a picture of buoyant residents of the city going about their business as usual, full of hope that the worst was passing and that the hard-pressed defenders would stem the Japanese tide.

Many Stores Open

Coffee shops and food stalls, he said, opened early and did a brisk business; many large commercial houses opened their doors as usual.

Great demonstrations of enthusiasm were declared touched off by reports of heavy punishment dealt the invader by the British.

The Singapore Free Press, the city's only newspaper still publishing, carried a banner headline on its single sheet with this message from Governor Sir Shenton Thomas:

"Singapore must stand; it shall stand!"

Jap Casualties Heavy

The invader was suffering terrible casualties from massed British batteries which were throwing shells into the Japanese concentrations at a rate as high as 400 an hour.

Regular communications with the outside world remained in British hands, and at 5 p. m., Singapore time (6 a. m. eastern war time) the British command sent out this calmly-phrased communiqué telling of a position that yet seemed ultimately hopeless for the defenders, brilliant though their long continued delaying action:

"Shelling today has been frequent on our forward areas and on Singapore town."

"He (the enemy) has also carried out low-level and dive-bomb attacks on our forward areas and there have been many high level bombing attacks in the town area by large formations of aircraft."

Fighting now is taking place about Ang Mo Kio village, Mac-

Russians Score Greatest Gains Of Winter Drive

Also Report Destroying Seven German Warships in Arctic Waters

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Feb. 13 (AP)—Knifing through German lines for the deepest and most significant advance yet of the Red army winter offensive, Russian ski troops have entered White Russia, on the old frontier with Poland, and Soviet submarines have destroyed seven more German warships in Arctic waters, war front dispatches reported tonight.

The regular midnight communiqué said "Our troops continued to advance."

Drive Ahead in South
News of these successes in the north and west were accompanied by accounts of an uninterrupted Soviet drive in the south, where numerous villages were liberated and in the Crimea, where Russian marines routed the Germans from a height dominating the Crimean naval base of Sevastopol.

The point of entry into White Russia was not disclosed, but it could have been achieved by advance units thrusting ahead of strong Soviet forces operating both above and below Smolensk, threatened key German base on the Dnieper 230 miles west of Moscow.

Large Patrol Action
Indications were that it was a patrol action on a large scale, aimed at destroying the network of communications being used by the Germans in White Russia. This is a republic of the USSR, and, with the Ukraine, was the scene of Adolf Hitler's first big gains in his invasion of the Soviet Union.

In far northern waters, the Russians said submarines of the Red northern fleet pounced on a German convoy, sinking five transports, a tanker and a trawler bearing reinforcements to Nazi forces holed up on the Murmansk front and the Khiby peninsula.

Dogs Kill Many Deer In Frederick County
FREDERICK, Md., Feb. 13 (AP)—Dogs have destroyed more deer in Frederick county in the last ten days than were killed by hunters in the recent open season.

Regional Game Warden Benjamin F. Phebus, Sr., reported finding the carcasses of a large buck near Lewis town, the fifth slain in little more than a week. The animal had been torn to bits.

Phebus said about twenty-five dogs were running in packs in the mountains. Several have been shot by game wardens and hunters, he said, but a large pack still is at large.

Government

The defendants will be arraigned at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday at Evansville.

The indictment also charged the firm with making false certificates and affidavits as to the number of tires on hand last Oct. 1 when a special luxury tax went into effect.

At that time all companies were required to make a report on the weight and number of tires in stock.

B. Howard Caughran, district attorney for the southern Indiana federal district, said there were no charges of illegal sale of tires since the rationing order went into effect but that the indictment was based on certificates and affidavits filed by the company as to the floor stock.

Allege Various "Schemes"
Various schemes were used to cover up the actual floor stock, he said.

Among the charges was one that the company moved a large supply of tires from the sales room to the home of one of the officers last Jan. 4. Ten days later, the government charges, the tires were moved to the Booneville mills and Hart and Baker are accused of making out a false invoice on Jan. 15 purporting to show twenty-seven of the tires were sold to the Milling company for $1,400 as of Sept. 20, 1941.

An official of the Milling company was alleged to have made a note out to the sales company for the tires and to have dated it as of Sept. 30.

The government charges the entire transaction was a fraud and that actually there was no sale of the tires.

Conviction of the charges carries a maximum penalty of ten years in prison and $10,000 fine. Neither of the defendants had been arrested at the time the indictment was returned.

TACOMA, Feb. 13 (AP)—Violence broke out today at the big Seattle-Tacoma Shipbuilding Corporation plant where welders, seeking a union independent of the AFL, sought to form a picket line.

An estimated twenty-five to forty welders, including their leader, Charles L. Brinkerhoff, were beaten, knocked to the ground, kicked in the heads and had their picketing signs torn from them. Brinkerhoff said there were twenty pickets at the yards.

The pickets, carrying signs reading "don't pay tribute to the AFL" and "we want to work for our country but not for the AFL," were attacked by several hundred workers at the early-morning change of shifts.

Police were unable to stop the fighting which occurred in semi-darkness.

The picketing welders were driven off, some chased as far as two miles. No further picket lines were established.

About 1,180 welders walked out three weeks ago because of the inter-union dispute. AFL unions, which have a closed shop contract with the shipyards, refused demands of the welders for a separate union. The welders contended they were forced to hold cards and pay dues in various AFL-unions.

A small picket line also was thrown around the Birchfield Boiler Works where there is a similar inter-union dispute. The line was broken up by men who suddenly appeared on the scene. Brinkerhoff said three welders of the Birchfield picket line were missing.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS
By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Escape from Brest of a trio of fast and powerful German warships under the noses of the Royal navy and Royal Air Force and the very muzzles of British shore batteries is a stunning new blow to anti-Axis war leaders.

It changes vital war factors in both oceans. It represents aside from any other construction placed upon it, closely integrated German-Japanese strategy.

With such big and dangerous vessels as the light battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen loose in the Atlantic, that ocean becomes again the greatest danger zone for British, Russian and this country. Those sea routes must be kept open if the Axis war design is to be frustrated.

May Help Japan
And to the extent that the daring German sea success forces increased Anglo-American naval concentrations in the Atlantic at the expense of the Pacific defenses it will certainly help Japan enlarge her victories. It could seal the fate of the Dutch Indies, next in line for Japanese assault.

London commentators make no bones about the seriousness for the Allied cause of British failure to destroy those German war craft.

British Editors Score Churchill For Nazi Escape

Prime Minister Criticized for Failure To Stop German Ships

LONDON, Saturday, Feb. 14 (AP)—The full fury of a bitter editorial barrage against the government fell for the first time today upon Prime Minister Churchill himself on the heels of the German fleet's dash through the channel, and one newspaper suggested bluntly that Britain had been "hypothesized by the force of his rhetoric."

The prime minister, who heretofore has had to defend only his colleagues, this time found himself one of the main targets of an attack which was the most severe since he took office in May, 1940.

The News Chronicle said: "His methods of government must be recast quickly and with a single aim in view—to retrieve as dangerous and humiliating a situation as any that yet confronted us."

"Have we not been hypnotized by Mr. Churchill's personality, by his hold in the House of Commons. Have we not been drugged by phrases, by reiterated assurances, into a frame of mind in which we've lost our grip on realities?"

The Herald remarked "we look pretty foolish" and added the British public "now feels apprehension about the whole strategic direction of the war which no mere formal inquest on past events will remove, however thoroughly conducted."

The Mirror asked: "Is it any longer true to say we trust the prime minister though we do not trust his government?"

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express came to Churchill's defense, declaring that "the horse Churchill is pulling a heavy load up hill. What do we do to that horse? Beat him with sticks? Or get behind the wagon and give him a hand?"

Walsh also declared that "since daylight saving time has been adopted in the interest of national defense and security any ambiguity or doubt should be resolved in favor of promoting the national war effort."

Walsh argued that if the state's fifty-eight-year-old time statute "were now construed to require that the standard in this state conform to the mean astronomical time at the seventy-fifth meridian while many activities and proceedings are governed by the standard one hour later, it would reinstate the diversity of standards and cause the very confusion and inconvenience which it was originally designed to alleviate."

"It therefore seems more reasonable to assume that the legislature intended to refer to the standard time actually prevailing at the seventy-fifth meridian from time to time rather than to require the maintenance of a rigid standard in this state even though the time effective and in use at that meridian differed from it."

"This view seems to have been accepted during the last war."

empt to match the slower rate of their escort of smaller warships. Press Demands Probe

Shocked apprehension lest allied control of the North Atlantic would be ended for a dangerous period by union of these three ships with other powerful German units was general in London. These fears were matched by indignant demands in the press for a grand inquest into why British air power, despite the loss of forty-two planes, could not, with naval support, kill the Nazi squadron in the narrow waters beneath the white cliffs of Dover.

Certain informed civilian air sources ascribed the failure of the RAF and fleet air arm to duplicate the Japanese Malayan success against the Prince of Wales and Repulse to the fact that the RAF has a long-standing prejudice against use of dive bombers. Others said the effective German fighter support over the squadron was the real reason the Nazi men of war eluded destruction by the British bomber and torpedo planes.

Grave Threat to Britain
It was believed here that the Germans now could throw a battle fleet of six heavy ships and a strong protective screen into the battle of the Atlantic at a moment when the British and United States fleets are heavily involved in the Mediterranean and Pacific, and that this would be a superior force for a matter of weeks.

Such a battlefleet, which might include the battleships Tirpitz and Luetzow, together with a number of cruisers and destroyers and even one or two aircraft carriers, conceivably could end all allied convoy work in the Atlantic until it was found and destroyed.

Loose in the Atlantic, it would gravely menace American-guarded Iceland. A successful attack on the allied base would render it useless for anti-submarine work by air and surface units. The whole strategy of the Atlantic would be changed if German U-boats could operate from Iceland and command the North Atlantic, forcing the convoy route south.

"Under the leadership of Governor O'Connor, the Democratic party continues to play petty, partisan politics in Maryland with the national defense program. The result has been bungling, mismanagement and gross inefficiency."

"Public criticisms have been voiced by leading industrialists, all affiliated with the Democratic party. Recently a large group of Democratic women resigned from the Civilian Defense committee protesting about its inefficiency."

Walsh argued that if the state's fifty-eight-year-old time statute "were now construed to require that the standard in this state conform to the mean astronomical time at the seventy-fifth meridian while many activities and proceedings are governed by the standard one hour later, it would reinstate the diversity of standards and cause the very confusion and inconvenience which it was originally designed to alleviate."

Henderson Asks Workers To Seek Slash in Prices

Would Also Have Them Ask Higher Taxes Instead of Higher Wages

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson made clear today that he thought workers would be much better off if organized labor would seek lower prices and higher taxes rather than increased wages.

He declared, however, that "if anything could be done to prevent a rise in the cost of living, that would be more beneficial to the labor group than increasing wages."

He added:

"If the labor group could force the Office of Price Administration to go very severely at the cost of living and force Congress to increase taxes, workers would get much more than they would by changing the price tags on pay envelopes."

The War Labor Board has set a hearing for Feb. 24 on the CIO's demands for "little steel."

Henderson, as price control administrator, has no authority to place ceilings on wages. The price control act directs, however, that he consult with agencies concerned with wage questions.

May Pay in Defense Stamps
In that connection, Henderson said he had discussed with the labor board the feasibility of paying any future wage increases in defense savings bonds or stamps, but noted that neither he nor the board had power to require such payment.

On the general subject of higher wages, Henderson said raises granted to large blocs of laborers, without a corresponding increase in production of consumers' goods, simply would mean that the government would have to plunge more deeply into rationing schemes, to insure "fair and equitable distribution of goods."

Asks Higher Taxes
Viewing the problem as one of too much income for the available amount of goods, Henderson said he favored increased income taxes, both personal and corporate, which would bite seven to nine billion dollars more out of the country's 1942 income, and hoped that a savings program could divert an additional seven to eight billion dollars of purchasing power.

He intimated this still would leave an excess of purchasing power of eleven or twelve billion dollars over the amount of consumer goods and services available under the war economy. Consequently, he said, more savings must be siphoned out of the nation's pockets, and he proposed that labor groups take the lead in instituting savings plans by withholding part of their members pay checks, or by other means.

Associated Press Is Accused of Violation Of Anti-Trust Laws

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The Associated Press said in a statement today that it had filed a complaint with the Justice department's anti-trust division charging the Associated Press with violation of the anti-trust laws.

The Associated Press, in the statement distributed to news offices in Washington, said it was a non-profit co-operative news service for labor papers which furnishes news, feature material and pictures to more than 150 publications published by international unions, central labor bodies and local unions, affiliated with the AFL and CIO, and unaffiliated unions. It is owned by its member papers, the press said, and is not a part of the official family of any group in the labor movement.

"The complaint alleged that the AP, by scrapping a picture mat service which it had acquired from the New York Times," the Associated Press said, "was restricting the supply of news pictures for more than 100 labor papers served by the Associated Press, as well as a large number of small newspapers and community weeklies."

"Important" Speech By FDR Feb. 23
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt will make a radio address to the nation at 10 p. m. (EWT) on February 23.

His press secretary, Stephen Early, said today the speech would last about half an hour. He announced two weeks ago that the president would make an address late in February and would have something "important" to say.

Mr. Roosevelt is expected to report on the progress of the war effort.

Naval Officers Picture What Is Ahead for Japs

Attacks in Mid-Pacific May Be Repeated in Japan, Naval Men Say

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Feb. 13 (AP)—A crippling blow at Japanese power in the mid-Pacific possibly a preview of what Japan itself may expect—was graphically pictured today by naval officers in disclosing results of the attack by the Pacific fleet February 1 of the Gilbert and Marshall Islands.

Striking in a surprise raid at dawn, the naval units and fleet air arm executed their first major offensive to clear the Japanese from island bases flanking the United States supply route to Australia and New Zealand.

The attack was conducted over an area of 350 to 400 miles located 2,000 miles from Pearl Harbor. The ships participating had been at sea for at least three weeks and covered around 10,000 miles.

"This long distance attack by the task force," said one naval officer, "demonstrated how war can be taken directly to the enemy's doorstep regardless of distance."

Warning to Japan

This was taken as a clear warning that Japan itself may expect a destructive sweep from the Pacific fleet. Tokyo is but 4,000 miles from this base. Already Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, fleet commander, has promised further forays, saying every naval facility would be used to the fullest extent "to safeguard America and to bring the war to the enemy's door."

Results of the successful offensive were announced by the navy department in Washington as follows: Five Japanese warships sunk, including a 17,000-ton converted aircraft carrier.

Eleven Japanese auxiliary vessels sent to the bottom.

At least forty-one enemy warplanes destroyed, either in aerial combat or on the ground.

Important naval and air bases on six islands plastered with shells and bombs, their batteries and radio stations destroyed, buildings laid in ruins—in short, a mass of wreckage at every point under fire.

Admiral Halsey Honored

The operation, it was disclosed with gratification to those contending for greater use of air power, was commanded by a flying admiral, Vice Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr. Admiral Halsey was awarded the distinguished service medal for the "brilliant and audacious attacks," the navy announced, and appropriate awards would be made to other officers and men of the task force.

Captain Miles B. Browning, Admiral Halsey's chief of staff, was promoted from commander to captain. He took part in the raids and described some of the action in a radio talk today to the United States.

Eleven planes and "a few officers and men" were lost in the operation, Captain Browning said. The blows dealt the enemy were a satisfactory answer to the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor that started the war, said Browning.

High School Students Slay in Home Town

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 13 (AP)—What happens to high school students after they graduate?

Hagerstown school authorities made a survey to find out and learned that nearly nine out of ten remain in their own community.

The survey, covering the last five years, was undertaken by Miss Catherine Beachley, Hagerstown High School vice-principal, to learn the answer to some questions considered necessary in determining future school policies.

Questionnaire postcards were mailed to 1,524 graduates. About fifty-one per cent took the trouble to reply.

The war has changed the picture somewhat, Miss Beachley said, but the result of the survey indicated fairly accurately what yesterday's students are doing today in a percentage breakdown of various occupational classifications.

German Warships Reach Home Port

LONDON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The Bremen radio said tonight that the German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen had arrived at their base "despite the British vigilance."

This German announcement, heard here by exchange telegraph, was followed by a similar announcement from the BBC.

Previously it had been assumed that the Nazi men-o-war had reached safety after a 700-mile dash through the channel into the sheltering waters of Helgoland bight.

Congressman Dunn Dies in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13 (AP)—Rep. Matthew A. Dunn, 56, Pennsylvania's blind congressman, died late today in Magee hospital after an illness of six months.

Dunn, a Democrat, had served four terms in Congress after six years in the state assembly. He lost the eye through being hit by a throwball at the age of twelve and the other at the age of twenty-one, because of an injury suffered while wrestling.

His widow, Mrs. Minnie Rudolph Dunn, survives.

Unity the Keynote Of Republicans

AS was the case with the splendid dinner event held at Frostburg under the sponsorship of the party State Central committee of Allegany county, the keynote of unity in the prosecution of the war against the Axis aggressors ran through all speeches at similar affairs held by Republicans throughout the nation in accordance with long custom.

That expression of faith and confidence and patriotism was only to be expected of Republicans despite their necessary position of opposition in our scheme of government, an opposition which they seek to make helpful and not harmful, for Republicans are as thoroughly patriotic as are the members of any other political organization in this country.

That was the predominating thought everywhere as reported in the Associated Press accounts. Yet at the same time, party spokesmen emphasized, but without rancor, that there will be no moratorium on criticism when they consider criticism may be due, and that orderly political procedure will be continued in accordance with the system of free government under which we have so happily lived and under the constitution upon which it was so firmly founded.

These things are equally a mark of patriotism as is the sincere pledge to do everything possible to support the leaders of government in the prosecution of the war. This war is being prosecuted to maintain and preserve that system of government. To neglect now to perform the political duties and to meet the political obligations prescribed by law and custom would indeed be a disservice and denote an actual lack of patriotism.

Speaking in the House of Representatives in eulogizing the martyred Lincoln as "a great president, a great American and one of the outstanding men in the long history of man," the Democratic leader, McCormick, of Massachusetts, declared that "Lincoln preserved the nation from internal danger and it is our duty to preserve it from external danger."

That, as the Republican speakers unanimously indicated, is the paramount duty of today, but it is also our duty to preserve the nation from both. That is why we have the checks and balances so carefully implanted in our organic laws and why it is necessary for Republicans to carry on their work even though it is necessarily restricted in part by the exigencies of the terrible dangers with which the nation is now confronted.

As a spokesman for the party, the News is highly gratified over the fervent manner in which its objectives were stressed and good will in common citizenship was demonstrated at the Frostburg event. The sincerity of the affair was something of which all participants and all other members of the party in the county may well feel proud.

Fiscal Policy and War Aftermath

WALTER E. SPAHR, professor of economics in New York university and secretary of the Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy, has addressed an open letter to Congress urging the importance of the pursuit of sound monetary and fiscal policies in this national crisis.

The letter explains the two schools of thought on the serious speculation as to how the United States will emerge from this war, which Spahr says cannot reliably be predicted.

One school holds that the nation will emerge as a collectivist state as a result of the large number of collectivists in the federal government, the power these leftists wield, the proneness of numerous high government officials to minimize the dangers of a skyrocketing debt, the defeatist attitude that there will be a financial collapse doubtful of prevention.

The other school of thought grants the presence and activities of the radicals but its members believe that at the close of the war, if not before, "the American people will be ready for a thorough housecleaning to eliminate these revolutionists from our government," and that "this nation need not collapse financially if a careful watch be kept over federal monetary and fiscal measures and policies," maintenance of which watch is advised as the concern of all responsible citizens.

Such a watch is being maintained by the economists' committee which, Spahr notes, is fighting and will continue to fight all unseemly monetary theories, such as greenbackism, devaluation, a "managed" inconvertible paper currency, the silver programs, Townsendism, wasteful and poorly-conceived "pump priming," "the fallacious arguments regarding the virtues of continued peacetime federal deficits and a huge public debt, and similar monetary and closely-related fiscal heresies."

It is difficult to perceive why there can be any other choice as between these two schools of thought save that of fiscal sanity as against a helpless predestinarianism. Congress should weigh the warnings given by Spahr thoughtfully and thoroughly. Its members and, as the committee advises, responsible citizens as well, should maintain the vigilance urged.

A Complete Ticket And Strong, Too

IT IS FITTING AND PROPER that Republicans of Maryland do not intend to let the governorship of the state go by default and that, as has been announced by W. David Tighman, Jr., state chairman, a complete ticket will be put in the field for the fall election.

The very good reasons why that party should so present itself at the polls this year have been fully set forth in the pronouncements made at the many Lincoln day dinners. Complete party tickets should be made up everywhere throughout the state.

There is one thing that may be added about this obvious purpose of having complete tickets in the field. It is that good, strong, capable candidates be named all the way down from the governorship to the smallest office. This may be a trite observation, applicable to all parties at all times, yet it is more particularly necessary for Republicans in this state in view of the numerical voting odds faced by them.

As has frequently been pointed out in these columns, an appealing Republican ticket will make big headway and possibly march along the path to victory if the Democrats get into another cat-and-dog factional scrap, the possibilities of which are not altogether out of question.

But, regardless of what may eventuate on the other side of the political fence, let us have Republican nominees of fearless and capable leadership who will inspire party members with more than ordinary zeal in supporting them and invite such support from others.

Don't Get Careless About Your Cars

REPORTS of car thefts are bobbing up in the news columns and we may expect to read more of them as time goes on and the available cars and tires become scarcer.

Car owners will have to be more careful about protecting them against this wartime thievery. One obvious precaution is never to leave the keys in one's car. Another is not to leave the car in the street, particularly a dark street, at night. Nor should it be left in an unattended parking lot; and the garage doors should always be kept locked.

A Pittsburgh newspaper has pictorially emphasized this advice, reproducing a picture of a brand new automobile, intact, spick, span and shiny in every way except in an important particular. Its wheels were missing—all four of them. Thieves had taken it from a street where it had been parked for the night. They didn't want the car, but they wanted its tires. They didn't even want the wheels, but they apparently didn't have the time to take off the tires, so they just took both wheels and tires.

Any car owner now runs the risk of a similar loss—irreparable to most car owners now—by leaving the keys in the car, or carelessly parking it.

Factographs tells us that in Arabia a husband is forced by law to keep his wife supplied with coffee. In getting a divorce, no grounds are good grounds.

There are only 600 grizzly bears in the United States, we read. Oh, well, that's just another shortage we'll have to make the best of.

Mother Worries a Little

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Mother worries. She can't sleep for thinking about her son.

He said he'd be home by midnight, and here it is ten minutes after two and he isn't home yet. She knows because she heard eleven and twelve and one and two strike on the old hall clock. She dozed off for a while and then woke suddenly, with a start at twenty minutes after twelve, frightened, and padded down the hall to his room and found he wasn't there.

And since then she's been worrying. He was never so late before. He always came home when he said he would. He's dependable and solid and trustworthy. Something Has Happened to Him! He may have been in an automobile accident. Or he might have been held up as he put his car away—and he's shot—and he may be lying somewhere this minute—needing her help!

But she mustn't be a "worrying old fool," she tells herself. She mustn't turn into a shivery mother. . . Of course he's all right. If he weren't, someone would have telephoned or come to the house. He's safe enough. He knows she isn't worrying. She's always told him she never worried about him and not to mind about HER.

But why doesn't he let her know? Why are children so careless? Why haven't they more imagination about things? How can they be so cruel as to let those who love them suffer so intensely? And how CAN they be so blind? Oh, how terrible it is to have a son and to worry about him! But how much more terrible it would be to have no son at all and to be past all worrying and all pride and all hope!

And then, at last, her son comes—quietly up the stairs, stands at her door a moment listening, decides she is asleep, goes softly off to his room and her loving anxiety is over. Such a wave of relief sweeps over her and such a wave of resentment at her son.

She should tell him how she's suffered. She should tell him how she's worried. But what good would that do? She'll not say anything about it at all. If he doesn't explain his lateness, she'll not ask him. He's a man now and old enough to do as he pleases. She was an old fool to worry, but she'll never stop doing it. Worrying is just the price you pay for loving, and it's better to worry than not to love. . . And soon enough now she'll be fast asleep.

Only 400,000 Men Are Used by Japs In Island Fighting

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The Japs have been doing all this Oceanic conquering with less than 500,000 men. A late check suggests no more than 100,000 to 120,000 rolled over Malaya and Singapore. About 200,000 went into the Philippines.

Paul Mallon

Around 40,000 have shown in Burma and an equal number is spread around elsewhere upon other newly conquered islands.

This adds up to only about 400,000 men—a mere corporal's guard in comparison with our rising army and those of Europe.

In all, the total Jap field army counts no more than 2,000,000 fighting men, and only 600,000 efficiently equipped. Of these, 1,000,000 are holding China and possibly 500,000 on the Russian front in Manchukuo.

The most conservative estimate of British forces in Malaya was 50,000 to 80,000 so they certainly were not outnumbered there to the extent publicized. The British plunger just did not have the jungle-fighting training and equipment and particularly the planes. They were wide open to air attack throughout.

Advocate of Attack

This new Dutch commander of our and other naval forces in the Far East has his own ideas. Those who have recently returned from Batavia say the Vice Admiral C. E. L. Helrich, has been telling his associates the United States and Britain were using too many ships for conveying too few for fighting. The old submarine commander is a stern advocate of attack as the best offense.

The spreading Jap plan of naval attack against him is evident in developments so far. The main drive is headed at Java, housing the capital (Batavia) and the last United Nations naval base in the Far East (Soerabaja).

The Japs have established land airbases in Borneo and the Celebes just to the north of Java and have started a bombing campaign. They are moving to pick up a few more airbases in Borneo and the Celebes then will throw their full air strength at Java from three sides.

This is going to make the waters rough for Admiral Helrich's ships. Once in control of Java, the Japs are likely to spread east. Seizure of Timor and New Guinea (not very strongly defended) could give them air bases hanging over the head of the northern coast of Australia. They could close the Torres Strait, sew up the port of Darwin (an important village of no more than 4,000, with a good harbor and no shipping facilities).

If the Japs go beyond that into Australia in the present push, they will greatly surprise everyone here. There is nothing in the northern half of Australia. The population is largely centered in the southeastern corner beyond Sydney, which is 2,000 miles as bombers fly from New Guinea.

New Guinea therefore seems to be the end of the line.

Ickes Loses a Battle

Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones and Interior Secretary Ickes have just been through a bloodless but bitter inside encounter.

Mr. Ickes being of a belligerent nature and liking to get his foot in the door wherever possible, inserted his toe into the aluminum production program of the Federal Loan Agency headed by Jones. FLA was furnishing money for expansion of aluminum production, and entered negotiations with the Aluminum Company of America which Mr. Ickes calls a monopoly. Well, said Mr. Jones, if they are a monopoly they are the only ones who know how to build an aluminum plant and aluminum is what we must have.

The army and OPM wanted

Official Washington has consistently turned thumbs down on suggestions that Britishers, long accustomed to air raids and the devastation which follows in their wake, be imported to co-ordinate the multifarious functions of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Apparently we prefer to muddle through on our own, with such questionable help as can be given by night club dancers and movie actors who enjoy the favor of Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt and society dilettantes who are persona grata at the White House.

In the nine-year history of the New Deal, no government agency has been peppered with more criticism than the fledgling Office of Civilian Defense. On an average of once a week it manages to plunge into hot water.

However, in view of its own sneak attack on the Treasury in the passage of the bill providing pensions for its members, we are inclined to doubt the propriety of the jibes directed by Congress at the appointment of Mrs. Roosevelt's favorites to well-paid positions in OCD.

People who live in glass houses should never throw stones.

WE'LL LEARN OUR LESSON OR ELSE

Fight for Self Preservation Must Be First Thought Now, Sullivan Warns

By MARK SULLIVAN

The historian who in future years reviews this crucial time of the United States and the world, will find a strange juxtaposition. In newspapers of the second week of February, 1942, he will find side by side two headlines most oddly related. One about the imminent fall of Singapore, the other about a girl dancer named Mayris Chaney.

Mark Sullivan

The relation between a frivolous diversion and a deadly national danger, symbolizes much of the story of America today.

The desperateness at Singapore, its apparently imminent fall, shocked the American people into a sense of peril, somber and urgent. It brought the war at least 5,000 miles closer to our own doorstep. By what was likely to follow fall of Singapore, the war, the enemy, might come literally to our shore. Literally and precisely, Singapore made the war, for us, a war of self-defense.

We knew at last, all of us knew, not merely that we were in a war, but that it was now a war in which we must fight for self-preservation. We began to question our hearts, to ask why we did not realize before, what had been doing, and falsely thinking, that had kept us insufficiently prepared.

Negligence Shared

Asking that question, we observed that the fall of Singapore was due to lack of preparedness on the part of Singapore's defenders. This, in the American mind, was associated with negligence on our own part, the negligence that resulted in Pearl Harbor, the negligence that permitted the Normandie to be destroyed. Taking into account the Normandie's speed and transport capacity, the loss of it neutralized the work of all the labor in all the shipyards in America for a full month, at a time when more transports are a desperate need.

The incident of the girl dancer was a symbol of our too great unworriedness, our lack of the anxious and desperate concentration which ought to have been our national mood. The publicity about the girl was cruel. Unless the incident involving her was understood, the furor about it was misleading. The lesson of the incident was true enough, but the emphasis was improperly placed.

We had set up an organization for war, the Office of Civilian Defense. Its purpose was one of the most serious a nation can have, defense of civilians against enemy air raids—air raids which, by the development at Singapore, became not merely a possibility but a probability. In this organization the wife of the head of the nation was a chief, titular or actual. She, carrying out what she conceived to be the function of OCD, enlisted a young protégée of hers, a girl dancer, whose work, as explained after commotion arose, was to train children in physical fitness—a function laudable enough in peace-time, but in face of war frivolous luxury.

Public commotion about this obscured what was Mrs. Roosevelt's real fault of judgment. Had the emphasis been upon her introduction into OCD and other branches of the public service, of persons with radical associations who were protégés of hers, and miscellaneous excuses for not properly attending to it.—G. W. BALLINGER.

Women Take To Slacks

The wearing of slacks by women may or may not have come to stay, but obviously the divided garments are being worn in considerable numbers by women in war work, by high-school girls, by vacationists, and by housewives who find them comfortable and convenient.

The propriety of this garb has become an issue in certain American communities. Challenged to get 200 signatures favoring permission to wear slacks to classes, girls of Flushing, N. Y., high school came back with 500. Many young ladies, training as air raid wardens or in other defense activities which involve a bit of climbing around, have come to the conclusion that slacks are more practical than skirts.

As for the esthetics of the situation, let him who values not his head venture an opinion. It is averred that competent design and tailoring can even make slacks attractive. The probabilities are that women, sensibly, will wear the kind of clothes best suited to their tasks. This should be their privilege. Yet it is not likely that slacks will entirely replace skirts. Good taste is partly a matter of custom. Moreover, the feminine instinct for adornment, exemplified on occasion in swishing taffeta, does not easily become a casualty of war.

Nurse Shortage Is Becoming Serious, Gen. Johnson Says

By HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Why don't our hundreds of thousands of women who want to help in the war reach out to do some real and necessary work instead of devoting themselves to OCD and similar war-time versions of Harry Hopkins' WPA?

Our shortage of nurses is getting to be a problem and that of doctors threatens to be a worse one. As our army expands it will need its full quota of doctors and all the competent trained and registered nurses there seems to be any prospect of getting. It has already taken many.

You can make a passable doctor and nobody wants one that isn't passable.

You can't make a nurse with the required professional attainments in less than two and preferably three years. It doesn't require any mathematical genius to figure out the arithmetic of that.

Like Keg of Dynamite.

It is a potential explosion like a keg of dynamite that we are sitting on. It is not the kind of situation upon which you can wait to prepare or avoid until after the fuse begins to sizzle.

If you are going to do something about it when it comes six months from now, you have got to begin to do it now. Then, it will be forever too late.

No, you can't make a competent nurse in six months, but experts in supervising nurses, watching their training and in the profession of nursing tell me that—given an earnest, able-bodied and intelligent woman, really devoted to the job of making herself competent—she can make herself extremely useful or even indispensable in six months intensified work and training.

There is no aspect of frill, felle-dol or glamour about this job. It is hard, grueling and frequently dirty and distasteful work. You can't do it on any basis of giving only spare moments, or as an aside to social activities, or giving all that you know about knitting to the job. It is not for social uplifters, adagio-dancers or amateur entertainers to raise the morale of either soldiers or the civilian population.

On Both Fronts

The best way to increase the morale of an embattled nation's armed forces or its people is to make that nation efficient on both the home front and the battle front. Does anybody suppose that the stench aroused by the slight stirrings of the OCD mess raised the morale of anybody except the high salaried chief boondoggles and the exhibitionists who lend themselves to such gross publicity antics of futility?

As anybody will know who will take the trouble just barely to skim through the mail of any columnist with a national circulation, nothing that has happened has created more resentment among soldiers and civilians.

Soldiers say that they have given up their own jobs and set aside their hopes of the future to help provide the money and man-power for victory and they want to know how the waste of this sacrifice can be justified.

Squander Is Resented

The civilian letters protest the taxation that is here and the waste that is coming, if it is to be squandered in nonsense. It brings the economy of the whole defense effort into question and is the worst blow yet suffered to our morale.

It brazenly advertises also a frivolity about the desperate position into which British and American strategy has been blundered. Since it comes from Washington itself, it argues the same kind of carelessness there.

There is nothing of the grim-faced Spartan woman or the ladies of the desperate South in this as there would be in the sight of crowds of our unencumbered women seeking the toil and sweat of training schools where a few of them are already making this sacrifice.

But that can come only when the country has been told the truth of our plight and danger and that has not been done. Someone must answer for that some day.

THE DAILY STORY

DEAR MA—

About Sammy, for Whom the War Effort Was a Real Problem. Here's the Way He Explained It to the Folks Back Home

(Disturbed by United Feature Syndicate.)

By MARY DRAKE

Here it's three weeks already I'm in the Army and everything is fine and dandy. Like you said, I should write to you always about camp and always I do and like I said in every letter everything is honky dory. Now I don't want you to go thinking I'm complaining when I tell you about what happened the other day. I wouldn't have to say anything to you about it but I promised never to keep secrets from you and I never did and you know it. Now this thing what happened ain't serious, Ma, so don't go getting nervous right away and start hawlin'. We came in the other day from maneuvers and cleaned up and ate and kinda loafed around camp like we always do before taps. I walks over to where a bunch of the boys were playing cards and I stood there a while minding my business when a little guy taps me on the back. He said, bud, give me a hand with something.

Your Loving Son, Sammy.

Being that he was a corporal I went. I followed him across the field into a tent by the stables where they keep a half dozen horses. Inside the tent there was six or seven fellows. The guy sitting down in the corner behind the orange box table was a sergeant and he was looking at me like I was the measles. The other fellows were walking up and down with their heads hanging just like our relatives were at Aunt Susie's funeral. I pokes the little guy in the elbow and asks him what it was I should help him with. He don't say nothing but looks straight at this guy sitting behind the orange box. The whole thing don't make sense so I pokes him again and without looking at me he says I have the prisoner your honor. Everybody there looked funny at me and I said say what do you mean prisoner? The sergeant who this guy called your honor said shut up if you know what's good for me.

Sombody behind me closed the flap of the tent and pushed me forward. The sergeant said what's your name and I told him. Then I said say why are you questioning me for anyway. He said you better tone your voice down private or you'll be charged with contempt. I says I don't mind a joke but this is got far enough and I'm going out. He said don't make me laugh. You ain't going nowhere till after your gpal. I said what do you mean trial? What's I gone? He said don't get sassy private or I'd be measured for a saddle. He said I was on trial for stealing a handful of oats. Now you know, Ma, I ain't never stole nothing in my life. I told this guy what would I be stealing a handful of oats for? They got the wrong man. This judge guy said well if we got the wrong man the court will apologize.

Three soldiers I ain't never seen in my life walked up. The judge said if you saw the defendant in the courtroom would you recognize him? They said sure and pointed their fingers at me those liars. The judge asked how it happened and they all told the same story how I was walking by the stable and stole the oats out of a bag. I told them over and over I didn't never do anything like that but the judge wouldn't listen and he said he didn't know what the world was coming to. He said the poor horses have to sweat in the field all day and then somebody like me comes along and steals their hard earned oats.

Now you know Ma I was always kind to animals and would never do nothing like that. I said your honor I would never do and do such a thing to the poor horses. They all shook their heads like they believed I did it and the judge asked me if I got anything to say before he passed sentence. I said yadam-tootin I was going straight to the commanders office and tell him about this. And what he told me right away about ever telling anything to anybody cause like you know Ma I want to get along with people. Those fellows meant business. So I said I ain't got nothing to say. He said you're a sensible boy and now take your clothes off. I said I ain't gonna never do that but the fellows what grabbed me changed my mind and took my clothes off for me. Then this little guy comes up with a hatful of eggs and a bottle of ketchup. One by one he broke them on my head and poured ketchup over and said to rub it in good and hard. After that they pushed me in the water trough outside and ran away. Now like I said Ma I ain't complaining only every time I think of that kangaroo court business I get mad. What I really want to say is this runt is the one I wanted to get even with cause how he was running when he broke those eggs on me.

I carried a couple eggs in my pocket always looking for that shrimp but I could never spot him there are so many soldiers here. Well last night one of the fellows that kangarooed me I ran into and he said he was sorry what happened that night. He said it was that little guy who was to blame for everything and I should do something to get even. He told me to dump his cot over while he was sleeping in it as that was one thing that really got him mad. I said okay and he showed me the tent he was in and that night I snuck up and did it. He must of felt pretty hard cause there was a loud bang and he yelled and cursed for a long time.

Well I was pretty happy every time I think of what I did to that

Work in Defense Leads to Upsels Of Family Life

Disruption Emphasizes Responsibility of Members of Household

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH.D.

Fathers who are accustomed to regular hours of work by day have little appreciation of the family in which the father or others must work by night for weeks and months on end.

With three shifts a day in the defense areas, seven days a week, it means that thousands and thousands of families with growing children cannot have normal family life.

Not many months ago it was the office man or executive who was most often absent from his family at dinner time. Now it is the man in the factory who is most likely to be away.

Irritations Grow

There is also the matter of sleep. Some persons find it hard to learn to sleep soundly during daylight. Many mothers have to keep warning active little children to suppress their shouts and laughter. Failing in this effort, family irritations grow.

Anyone who learns to exercise self-denial for the good of others gains in character values. But this large problem does bespeak the need of early adequate control of children.

Many a working father who must sleep by day, has a curious notion that everybody about the house must whisper and tiptoe just for his sake. But if, on the other hand, he cultivates a sensible philosophy he will get used to it and sleep soundly, noise or no noise.

Anyway, the disruption of the family program and hampering of its normal mode of fellowship by shifting hours of work in our defense industries emphasizes the responsibility of members of the family.

Solving Parent Problems

Q What do you suggest for a two-and-a-half-year-old child who bites her little playmates if they displease her?

A Plan your program for the next few weeks so you can observe this child while she is with her playmates. When she bites one of them, turn her on her tummy and smack her well. If, however, she will stay where you put, you might better punish her by having her sit in a chair where you can see her, doing nothing, for exactly twenty minutes. Punish her in no way when you are not right there; never after a child has told on her.

It took two years of constant experiment and research to develop skunk and muskrat secretives as fixatives for perfumes to take the place of vital ingredients the supply of which has been cut off by the war.

Built-In Griddle

Built into the cooking top of every domestic Chambers Range is the "In-A-Top" Griddle, on which husbands delight in displaying their own culinary ability on minute steaks, hamburgers, toasted sandwiches or griddle cakes. For after-theater entertaining, or for that lunch that always follows a ball game, the Chambers Griddle offers unsurpassed possibilities. Its size is such that eight big toasted sandwiches can be cooked at once; it accommodates similar quantities of other griddle delicacies. And this Griddle can be lifted off to be washed in the sink or dish pan. Teen age children are entranced by a "feed" at home, when they can prepare it themselves on the Chambers Griddle that holds a lure for the entire family.

Universities Have Duty in Regard To Draft Age, Dr. Clendening Says

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I approve heartily of the compromise agreement reached by Congress recently on making the ages for the draft from twenty to forty-five. The exclusion of the ages eighteen and nineteen has many advantages. Few young men at those ages are able to endure such severe physical hardship and strain as they might be called on to do in military service. The bones are not set completely at those ages, nor have the muscles acquired the highest grade of tonicity.

There are even more potent reasons for deferring the call of those men. Anyone who has been on the campus of one of our large universities must realize the extent of the educational process at the age levels of eighteen to twenty-one. At the University of California I was told last summer that there were 18,000 students. This means at least 9,000 men, of whom at least 7,000 are between ages eighteen to twenty-one. It is certainly better for the future of civilization for which we are fighting that they be allowed to finish their education.

Duty of Universities

In this respect the universities have a considerable duty and obligation. It is up to them to see that the time of this group is not wasted

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE WORST DANGER

THERE IS a good deal more to making grand slams than the mere being able to take the first couple of tricks in each suit. Slam conventions which enable you to find out whether your partner has certain top cards are fine as far as they go, but you must not lean too heavily on them. Their greatest danger, in the hands of most players, is that they lure you into slams which cannot be made because you have to lose some of the lower tricks, to queens, jacks and still smaller cards. Seldom is there a deal on which you can make a grand slam unless it contains some suit in which you can run more than three immediate tricks.

Questions and Answers

M. I. D.: What, if any, harm is done by the use of adreno-cortical extract, and how long can its use be continued?

As soon as he knew from North's Blackwood responses that his partner had the three missing aces and the one missing king, South reckoned that this was Valentine's Day, indeed; so away he jumped into grand slam. And look what befell him?

West led his heart 2, and South counted up. Two sure tricks in spades, three in hearts, two in diamonds and three in clubs made, only ten, and he had to get three more. Even if the diamond finesse would work, and the suit also would divide three-three in the defenders' hands, those two breaks would still leave him one short of his goal. There was not even any sense in trying for the diamond breaks.

So South tried his only possible chance—to find the missing club heart A and K, the club Q, the spade K, the club A and K. When West discarded on that, he knew he was beaten. He gave up a club, took his medicine and, we hope, learned a lesson from the hand.

Your Week-End Lesson

Why is it that some of the country's leading players prefer not to use any artificial conventions for helping them in the bidding of slams? What is the greatest advantage they consider that gives them, to offset the lack of specific information about aces and kings which could be furnished by the artificial methods?

Answer: Adreno-cortical extract is a very complicated substance. It is designed for use only in special cases and it is certainly better to leave these questions to your doctor than to try to decide them yourself.

Junior Music Festival Will Be Held March 21

Music and Arts Club Will Sponsor Affair in High School Auditoriums

The Music and Arts Club will sponsor the Junior Music Festival to be held March 21 in the auditoriums of Port Hill and Allegheny high schools, beginning at 9 a. m.

The purposes of the festival are to give a definite immediate objective; to inspire greater effort for artistic achievement; to provide a basis for higher musical attainment through constructive criticism and to give publicity and credit for merit.

Mrs. Robert H. Mann, general chairman of the festival, announced all juniors who belong to the federated group are working to make America truly musical and anyone interested in joining the federation may obtain detailed information either from her or from Mrs. Mabel S. Popp.

Innovations this year will be sight singing, musicianship and good audience groups. Entrants will compete in voice, and musical instruments, both individually and in groups.

Miss Clara Aschenfeld, from Peabody Conservatory, Baltimore, will be the judge for the piano group; Robert Bolles, also from the conservatory, will be the orchestra judge; and C. James Velle, superintendent of music in Baltimore county public schools, will judge the voice group.

Serving on the committees with Mrs. Mann are Mrs. Frank Stuart Rowe, Mrs. Robert T. Kerlin, Mrs. Henry C. Swearingen, Mrs. Thomas P. Pickering and Mrs. Popp.

Church Members Give Valentine Party

A Valentine party was held Thursday evening by members of the Grace Methodist church at the community hall. The program included musical selections, a recitation, declamation and Valentine quiz.

Betty Thompson, Doris Jean Poorbaugh, Betty Burner, Rosellen Dunlap, Ronald Sneathen and Charles Sneathen gave a thirty-minute program of popular selections on the piano accompaniment including solos, duets, quartets and sextets. A vocal quartet composed of C. T. Hardesty, Wilbur Cooper, Daniel Cooper and Edward Cooper sang spirituals. Eugene Webb and Garland Deter played modern numbers in a piano and guitar duet. Mrs. Ernest W. Yates gave a reading on Lincoln and Neva Webb, declamation winner at Port Hill gave her winning declamation, "Oil."

The Valentine motif was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Approximately 125 persons attended the affair.

The Healing Ministry of Jesus

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 15 is Mark 1:35-1:12; Luke 4:42-44; 5:12-20, the Golden Text being Matthew 14:14, "He had compassion on them, and healed their sick.")

OUR ENTIRE lesson tells of the ministry of Christ while He was on earth, and after He had chosen some of His apostles, immediately following His baptism by John. We saw how He freed a man from an evil spirit which possessed him; following this by healing Simon's wife's mother.

Early next morning, before it was light, He arose and went to a solitary place that He might commune with His Father. Here His apostles followed Him, and with them He went into several towns, preaching. To Him came a man afflicted with leprosy, that dreadful and loathsome disease. Kneeling before the Lord this man said, "If Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean." Reaching His hand to the man, in pity, Jesus answered, "I will, be thou clean," and the man was cleansed. Jesus cautioned him to say nothing to anyone of the miracle, but to go to the temple and receive the priest's instructions for cleansing himself, according to the law of Moses. Instead of doing as he was told, however, the man went out and blazed the matter abroad, proclaiming out of gratitude, but who knows how much harm he did by not obeying the Master?

Came Again to Capernaum
Once more Jesus and His companions came to Capernaum, and by this time, so great was His fame that great multitudes crowded around Him, following Him into a house so that no more could get in. Now there was a man who was very ill with palsy. His friends brought him to the house and tried to get in to see Jesus, and when they could not by the door, they went on the chimney roof, took part of it off and let the sick man down through the hole by a quilt knotted at the corners. Seeing their faith in Him, Jesus said to the man, "Son, thy sins be forgiven thee."

Immediately some scribes began saying in their hearts, "Why does this man thus speak blasphemies? who can forgive sins but God only?" Jesus knew what they were thinking and asked them, "Is it easier to say to the sick of the palsy, 'Thy sins be forgiven thee,' or to say, 'Arise, and take up thy bed and walk?'"

"But that ye may know that the Son of Man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (he saith to the sick of the palsy,) I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy bed, and go thy way into thine house."

The man immediately arose and went out, and all were amazed and glorified God.

Going to the seaside Jesus passed by Levi, son of Alphaeus, who was sitting at the receipt of customs, collecting tolls for his Roman masters. He was one of the hated publicans. Jesus said to him, "Follow me," and Levi, or Matthew, as he is believed to be, arose and followed Him.

A feast followed to which came many "publicans and sinners," and when scribes and Pharisees saw this they asked why Jesus, a Jew, ate with such people. The Jewish law forbade eating down to meat with them. Jesus' answer was: "They that are whole have no need of the physician, but they that are sick: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

Walking in the Corn Field
One Sabbath day Jesus and His disciples walked through a field of grain, and as they walked they picked some of the kernels, and rubbing them between their hands to separate the wheat from the chaff, they ate the kernels. The spying Pharisees said: "Behold, why do they on the Sabbath day that which is unlawful?"

Jesus reminded them that King David once went into the temple, and being hungry was given the shewbread which only the priests were supposed to eat, and he said to them, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath."

Once more, in the last incident of today's lesson, this same question of the observance of the Sabbath came up. Jesus was in the synagogue when a man who had a withered hand came to Him to be healed. The Pharisees were watching and waiting to see what He would do. He told the man to stand forth, and to the watchers He said, "Is it lawful to do good on the Sabbath days, or to do evil?" They did not dare answer Him, and Jesus, looking around, and grieving at their hardness of heart, told the man to stretch forth his hand, and when he did, the hand was restored to normal.

Straightway, the Pharisees went out and consulted with the Herodians how they could destroy Him. These Pharisees considered themselves righteous, godly men, but how far away they were from practicing a real religion. Jesus and His disciples went on to the sea, and great multitudes followed Him, and He healed many.

Late News Events as Pictured by the Cameramen

THE SINGING KING—To oblige his master, N. Y. Fireman George Donnelly, King gives out with a canine song perhaps to say he's ready for the Dalmatian firehouse competition at the annual Westminster Kennel Club show. King won it last year.

PROGRESS TOWARD A PILLBOX—Flat on the ground lie two U.S. army engineers, shielding themselves as the Bangalore torpedo they brought up explodes in barbed wire protecting an "enemy pillbox" under attack. Demonstration was at Fort Belvoir, Va. Once a way through the wire was cleared, soldiers used flame-throwers at the gunport and pillbox entrances, plus explosives.

PRIORITY—In her pale blue cotton lace gown, pearl-embroidered and enlivened by cerise cotton roses at the neckline, N. Y. Showgirl Lois January isn't worrying about war-time bans on silks. The roses also trim her blue cotton gloves.

GUARDING A PRECIOUS SECRET—Armed guards with guns drawn escort aviation cadets carrying Uncle Sam's all-secret, all-powerful bomb sights (in the bags) out to the planes for bombing practice at the bombardier training air corps advanced flying school in Albuquerque, N. Mex. Between flights the sights are stored in a vault that is heavily guarded.

ROADS WHERE YOU MAKE THEM—Roads in the war-racked Libyan desert follow no set pattern, as can be seen from the network of wheel and caterpillar tracks imprinted in the sands.

SENTRY—Behind the door of this vault being guarded by Corp. Leon Gauntt, a Texan, at the bombardier training school in Albuquerque, N. Mex., is the secret bomb sight used by army bombing planes. The sights are taken out for training flights.

YANKEE CUSTOM—There must be some American appetites in the neighborhood when a hamburger sign appears. This one is somewhere in England where Yanks are assembling U.S.-made planes. Some wag added sign chalked up in Japanese.

BOSS—William H. Collins standing at the sand-bagged entrance to the power plant of the Fore River shipyard of Bethlehem Steel Co. at Quincy, Mass., is general superintendent of the yard that's busy turning out ships for Uncle Sam.

CAPITOL CLOSEUPS—Two familiar figures on Capitol Hill in Washington take time out from heavy legislative chores to have a laugh. Left to right: Sen. Ellison D. "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, and Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard.

WHIMSY—The Allied V for Victory slogan is definitely in the mind of Film Actress Alexis Smith as she wears a striking Victory cape of white fox fur with the huge "V" accented by silver fox fur. Shoulders are decidedly squared.

BOILERS FOR CARGO BOATS—Eventually these boilers will find their way into the cargo boats being built, seven at a time, at the Todd-Bath shipyard in South Portland, Me., where assembly line methods and prefabrication are used, to speed up production. Britain is to get the current batch of boats. About 57 working days elapse between keel-laying and launching.

ALL'S WELL WITH WELDER—Protective cape and a numbered hood so hide this welder at the Todd-Bath shipyard in South Portland, Me., that he almost becomes part of the cargo ship, on which he's working. Part of boat is prefabricated.

CHOCOLATE DESSERT

WAFFLES ARE GOOD

Chocolate dessert waffles can be prepared up to two hours ahead of time and kept in the refrigerator.

Ingredients: Two cups sifted flour, two beaten egg yolks, four tablespoons shortening, five tablespoons sugar, two squares unsweetened chocolate, two beaten egg whites, one-third package fast granular yeast, one-half cup lukewarm water, one-half teaspoon sugar, one cup scalded milk and one-half teaspoon salt.

Directions: Pour the yeast into the lukewarm water, add one-half teaspoon sugar, stir and let stand a few minutes to soften. Pour the scalded milk into mixing bowl, add the salt and the five tablespoons sugar. Let cool and, when milk is lukewarm, add the softened yeast and flour. Beat until smooth, add beaten egg yolks, melted shortening and the melted chocolate. Mix well, cover and let rise in warm place for two hours. Then fold in the egg whites, beaten until just stiff. Let batter stand 10 minutes. Bake. The waffle iron should be quite so hot as for plain waffles. Serve with ice cream or sweetened and flavored whipped cream, and you have all the refreshments needed for one evening of fun.

Sleepy Tea That's Delicious

So often in making a cup of tea, Americans hastily pour a cup of water into a tea cup into which we have dipped a tea ball, and think we have an acceptable beverage. But to brew tea that will really be a delight to the palate, one should use an earthen teapot which has been warmed before the water is measured into it. Add fresh water that has just been brought to the boiling point. Then let the tea steep in a warm place not more than five minutes. If it is too strong for those who like a weak beverage, it can always be diluted. Try making afternoon tea this way, and you will be with cinnamon toast.

Fluffy Potatoes

If you want creamy, fluffy mashed potatoes, add hot milk or cream and stir until mixture is very light. Reheat over low heat and beat steadily.

Near-Round Beverage

Increasing home use of bottled carbonated beverages is demonstrated by the fact that many grocery stores, which used to stock soft drinks only in summer, now carry them all year.

Food Salute to Washington

MAGIC WHITE FROSTING: Perfect topper for layer cake.

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER
Wide World Features Writer

You may not want to spend much money or time bringing your George Washington's birthday dinner to full party basis but you can use a few symbolic touches in recognition of this patriotic event.

For decoration you could put junior's drum in the center of the dining table or tie a red bow on a blue vase can be pictures of Place cards can be pictures of Washington and his home on cards with some of his sayings written on them.

VICTORY SALAD: Dissolve a package of strawberry gelatin, add 1/2 cup pineapple juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Pour an inch layer in loaf pan. When stiff cover with another layer of cottage cheese, then another layer of gelatin. When this stiffens spread with a cup of cream mixed with 2 tablespoons celery, 1/2 cup nuts and 2 tablespoons chopped pimientos. Add rest of gelatin and when firm garnish with cress, chery or shredded lettuce.

COLONIAL PUDDING: Mix 3 cups seeded red cherries, 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 tea-

Bean Cooking Rules Are Quite Simple

Rules for cooking beans successfully are simple, says Miss Margaret McPheeters, nutrition specialist for the University of Maryland Extension Service. Soak the beans before you cook them—overnight or at least five or six hours. To get the most food value from the beans, use the water in which they are soaked to cook them use soft water if you can, because hard water toughens the bean skins. Never use soda to cook beans as this will destroy the valuable vitamin B1. Cook the beans slowly on top of the stove and simmer instead of boiling. For baked beans, use a slow oven (around 250 degrees Fahrenheit). Watch them carefully as they cook and keep adding more liquid.

Jelly in Cases Lend Gay Note

Mint or currant jelly in lemon cases (halves of lemons reserved after juice and pulp have been used) lend a gay note and give extra flavor to a platter of hot or cold lamb, veal or ham.

To remove ice cream easily from a refrigerator tray, place a hot cloth about the tray. As soon as the cream starts to melt around the edges, immediately unroll onto a chilled platter.

Taxing Small Fry

Youngsters will feel the tax burden if a proposed excise levy on soft drinks is enacted. Carbonated beverages are universal favorites with the younger generation, who consume a large share of the output.

Cold Hints

Foods with strong odors should be placed on top of refrigerator shelves. And carbonated beverages should be placed near the chilling unit or laid sideways on lower shelves.

HERE ARE SOME GOOD CULINARY TIPS

Slices of grapefruit on crisp lettuce topped with cubes of cranberry jelly make a tangy salad to serve with meat or fish.

A well seasoned bread-oyster stuffing may be used as a filling between layers of fish stock.

Spread hot meat cakes with hot pickled onions when they are ready for the table.

You can put extra vitamins and minerals into cabbage slaw with diced grapefruit.

When planning to serve fruit cocktail to a crowd allow about half a cupful per portion.

Pots and pans do not have to be scoured if the gas flame is kept on only high enough to maintain the boiling point. After liquid is brought to a boil it cooks no faster with high heat.

This Formula Helps "Sweet" Sour Cream

Many women prefer sour cream to sweet cream or milk for certain cooking purposes, but if sweet cream is left to sour naturally it often develops an undesirable flavor and odor. Dairy specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, however, have now developed a formula to sour cream sweetly. Simply shake up five tablespoons of buttermilk in a pint of sweet cream and let it stand twenty-four hours in a warm place (between 70 and 85 degrees). The buttermilk adds to the cream a large number of active milk-souring bacteria. These grow rapidly and not only sour the cream quickly, but prevent the growth of other bacteria—those that give naturally soured cream off flavor or color.

Raisins, dates, figs and currants should be soaked five minutes in boiling water before using. Use two tablespoons of water to each half cup of fruit.

How to make Pillsbury's Self-frosted Chocolate Honey Cookies

The Army and Navy will fight over these!

Complete recipe:

Recipe makes 4 dozen delicious nut-studded, chocolate-covered cookies. Give the boys a treat! Send "cookies from home!"

1. Sift 2 1/2 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour once, measure, add 2 tps. baking powder (or 1 tsp. double-acting), 1/4 tsp. soda, 1/2 tsp. salt, and 1/4 tsp. cinnamon; sift twice. (Two B-vitamins and iron are added to Pillsbury's Best, with no change in flavor, color, or baking quality.)
2. Cream 1/4 c. shortening and 1/4 c. strained honey together. Add 1 c. sugar gradually, beat until light. 3. Add 3 eggs well beaten; beat thoroughly. 4. Add 2 sqs. (2 ozs.) unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled, 1/4 c. chopped walnuts, and 1 tsp. vanilla; blend well. 5. Add dry ingredients gradually; mix well. (Pillsbury's Best blends so perfectly—gives you such fluffy, velvety batter—that you'll agree it's your best choice for cookies. It's just as good for all your baking—it's BAKE-REVEALS! Each hour during milling samples are tested for creaminess, appealing color. And rigid baking tests are made 4 to 6 times daily.)
6. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheet, allow room to spread. 7. Bake in moderate oven (375° F) about 4 min. Sprinkle tops of cookies generously with 1/4 c. grated sweet baking chocolate. Return to oven, continue baking about 8 min. longer, or until done. Let cookies get completely cold and frosting firm before filling the cookie jar or packing for mailing. Self-frosted Chocolate Honey Cookies are just the right size and shape for packing. And they stay fresh longer! For two reasons—first, the recipe calls for honey; second, the recipe calls for Pillsbury's Best—and the same qualities in this superb flour that give you fine, even grain and tender texture also help your baked foods retain their own freshness! Get Pillsbury's Best from your grocer today—you'll find you can depend on it to protect your baking success every time you bake.

Effort Is Again Made To Save Oak Trees in Garrett

Force Cutting Timber Is Reduced to Two Men at Request of Council

OAKLAND, Feb. 13 — That there was still a chance to reach an agreement in which many white oak trees of Mountain Lake Park would be saved from the woodmen's axes, was indicated when workmen for the Oakland Timber Corporation were reduced to a minimum of two engaged in cutting trees in the area, pending a conference with C. A. Maddy, representative of the Defenders of the Faith, enroute to Mountain Lake Park from Intercession City, Fla.

Held Special Meeting
A special meeting of the mayor and town council was held Tuesday night at which time they talked by telephone with Miss Osie England, leader of the Defenders, who is in Florida, and she dispatched a telegram to H. D. Lollar, manager of the Oakland Timber Corporation, asking him to stop cutting trees until Maddy arrived for a conference with him and the Mt. Lake Council.

A crew of about twenty men began cutting trees there again this week after a thirty-day truce was up and also a five-day extension of the time.

At a council meeting on December 30, 1941, Lollar stated his corporation had purchased from the Defenders of the Faith through their representative W. O. Bitzer, 500 trees and also had an option to make further purchases, the option effective for one year. Up to that time there had been about 200 trees cut and the citizens of the Park and the council were endeavoring to save the remainder.

Makes Proposition
At that time Lollar declared he would be willing to cease further cutting for a period of thirty days, according to the minutes of the council meeting, and at the end of that time would relinquish any claim he had for any timber under his contract with the Defenders of the Faith, provided that an agreement could be executed assuring that the timber would not in the future be cut and removed by someone else.

At a council meeting January 14, Dr. Oscar Hall, mayor, said that the council through its attorney Neil C. Fraley would agree not to sell the trees in the future. No definite agreement however, was made.

Last Thursday the Mt. Lake group asked for a five-day extension of the truce which was granted, but cutting began again this week with a crew of twenty. At the request of the council, Lollar agreed to reduce the workmen to two until Maddy appears. He was expected Monday.

Farmers Receive Checks

More checks for farmers participating in the triple-A program of the agricultural adjustment administration, were received at the office of John H. Carter, county agent, this week, bringing the total number thus far to 871 and the amount received to $24,167.24.

Those eligible to receive the checks are being or already have been notified, it was stated.

About 1,200 farmers are participating and all checks to be received by them amount to approximately $40,000.

Desertion Charged

Desertion is charged by Mrs. Mildred Virginia Foley in a suit filed Thursday in circuit court asking a partial divorce from William Franklin Foley. The bill of complaint, filed by David W. Sloan, attorney, says the couple was wed December 30, 1939, and separated last January 30 and asks custody of a minor child and payment of alimony.

Coasting Injuries Fatal

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 13 (AP) — Coasting accident injuries caused the death today in a Morgantown hospital of nine-year-old Glenn M. Bucklew of Terra Alta, hurt when a sled on which he and another lad were riding crashed into a car on Route 7 near Terra Alta last Wednesday night.

The other boy, also seriously hurt, is in a Terra Alta hospital.

Many drivers still need to learn the "Stop, Look, and Listen" lesson. Census bureau figures indicate, last year 1,707 persons were killed in collisions between automobiles and railroad trains.

Red Cross Story Is among Latest Books at Library

"In Peace and War--Story of Human Service" Is Now Available

A dramatic story of the Red Cross from the time of its inception well into the second year of the present war, is contained in the volume "In Peace and War--A Story of Human Service," now available at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, yesterday announced that the library has three copies of this important book which may be borrowed at the main library, Washington street, or the South End library station, located in the Pennsylvania Avenue school.

Other interesting additions to the shelves at the local library include:

Describes Oceania
"Westward the Course" by Paul McGuire, a citizen of Australia, who describes the new world of Oceania. This book went to press two days after the battle of the Pacific began. In this volume the author describes Hawaii and New Zealand, Australia and Batavia, Malaya and Singapore.

"Respectfully Anne"—letters from a London cook, edited by Sylvia Brockway, will appeal to the "Mrs. Miniver" fans. These letters with their courage, humor and humanity make amusing and inspiring reading.

A delightful combination of sentiment and perception is "Our Miss Box," the story of a real little girl from six months to six years, written by Margaret Lee Runbeck. "Something Went Wrong," by Lewis Browne, is a concise discussion of recent history and of the industrial age.

Sermons by Niemoller

"God Is My Fuehrer" is a volume containing the last twenty-eight sermons of the courageous pastor Martin Niemoller. The book has a preface by Thomas Mann.

"Kit Carson Days—Adventures in the Part of Empire," revised edition by Edwin L. Sabin.

"Famous American Flyers," by Chelsea Fraser.

"Frontiers of Enchantment," an artist's adventures in Africa, by William R. Leigh.

"Twenty Centuries of Mexican Art," published by the museum of Modern Art, New York.

Martin May Run To Succeed James

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 13 (AP)—Major Gen. Edward Martin, tagged as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania, said here that "I am in service and I have no plans."

His statement was made in response to a question about whether he expected to retire from military duty to seek the gubernatorial nomination.

Gen. Martin, former commander of Pennsylvania's Twenty-Eighth division, was relieved of his command a few weeks ago because he had reached the retirement age of sixty-two for field service. He was assigned to special duty at the Fifth Corps area headquarters, Columbus, O., and was in Charleston for a conference with military authorities.

Two U. S. Patents Granted Celanese

The Celanese Corporation of America this week was granted a patent which relates to the production of semi-stiff collars and similar articles.

The patented process overcomes the tendency of fabrics to become yellow during lamination, and the whiteness is permanent so that no subsequent "bleuing" is required.

Dr. Henry Dreyfus, a director of the Celanese corporation, also was granted a patent relating to the manufacture of acetic acid anhydride or other anhydrides.

Central Cagers Defeat Allegany, 40 to 36

Lonaconing Five Breaks Campers' WMI Win Streak

Blue and White Girls Keep Loop Record Clean by Winning 36-25

Coach Mel "Newt" Henry's Central high boys' basketball team brought an end to an ancient Allegany high jinx last night before a large crowd by defeating Coach Walter L. "Bill" Bowers' West Siders 40-36 on the Campobello court.

In putting the first blemish on the Campers' Western Maryland Intercollegiate League record this season, the Orange and Black also scored its first victory in modern court history over Central at Lonaconing.

In stopping Allegany after the Blue and White had copped six straight league battles, including a 37-32 decision over Central at Lonaconing, the Henrymen relinquished the lead at only one stage of the game. On the other hand, the Campers remained in striking distance throughout. Central's greatest advantage was by seven points at the end of the third quarter and just before the final whistle.

It was a rough-and-tumble battle with Referee Van Roby having his hands full from the starting whistle until the final gun sounded the end of Allegany's loop victory streak.

Central grabs 6-0 lead

Central reeled off six consecutive points in a little over a minute of the opening stanza to lead 6-0 before Captain Milton Athey counted on a follow-up shot for the Campers. Midway in the session, the Alleganyans trailed by two points at 7-5 and 8-6 and a little later at 10-8. A long heave by Jack Getty was followed by tosses from the outside by Allegany's Don McIntyre and Don Dell with the latter's basket about five seconds before the whistle tying the game 12-12.

Athey's twin-pointer from the left at the start of the second round sent Allegany to the front for the only time in the tussle. John Musters' two fouls tied the count and another brace of free throws by the Central center broke the tie. After that, the visitors set the pace.

Central held a 24-21 edge at the half and after Athey trimmed the Coney crew's margin to one point, Bill Main caged a fielder. Dell a free throw and Getty a doubleheader. At the close of the third heat, Central was on top 36-29.

Both teams continued to rush the player who had the ball in the final round in which Central gathered four points to Allegany's seven. Athey opened the heat with a foul and felder, Dean dropped in a one-hander. Dell converted a foul, Dean counted from the left, Athey made a foul and Dell completed the scoring with a long heave that swished through the hoop.

Allegany Girls Win
Robert Johnson, Central guard, was banished on personal fouls midway in the fourth quarter while Dean of the Orange and Black and McIntyre of Allegany each had three personals at the close of the tilt.

The triumph kept the Coney outfit in the running for the championship. Dean with ten points, Getty with ten and Musters with three baskets and six of six foul throws, led the Central attack. Athey accounted for fifteen Allegany tallies.

In the first game of the WMI twin-bill, the Allegany girls, with Ruth Fradiska showing the way with twenty-one points, kept their league record intact with a 36-25 victory over the Central lassies. The triumph was the Campobello sextet's seventh in a row in the loop and its second over the Orange and Black this year.

Central got away to a 7-4 lead in the first period but made only two points to Allegany's thirteen in the second quarter to trail 17-9 at the half. At the end of three rounds, the winners led 26-19. Morton caged eight points and Rowan seven for the visiting team. The lineup:

The SPORT TRAIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 — (Wide World)—Lefty Gomez came bouncing out of Ed Barrow's office. He had been in there only about as long as Buddy Baer was in with Joe Louis the second time, but it was long enough to sign to pitch for the Yankees again. The guy must have been writing with both hands.

"Gee," he exclaimed in a stage whisper. "Look, he gave me a bonus." He held out a copy of the San Francisco baseball club press book. "I used to play with them," he explained.

He settled himself comfortably on the huge leather monstrosity which serves as a settee in the press room, and sniffed a couple of times apprehensively.

"Haven't had a cold all winter," he said, looking about for some handy word to rap. "Looks like I'm getting one now. I guess he shut the door too fast on me yesterday."

Lefty had been in to see Barrow the day before, and left without signing. He apparently had changed his mind as soon as the fresh air hit him, for he called the boss shortly afterwards and said he would be in the next morning and get things straightened out.

Visited Japan in 1934
He glanced at a headline on a paper: "Singapore Felling". "Hm," he mused out loud, "I was there. Was in Japan, too. We went around the world in 1934. You know, everywhere we were they were fighting now. They treated us fine in Japan. The Japs aren't as good ball players as the Filipinos, though. They look like they're faster, but that's because they have such short legs. The Filipinos are pretty good. Especially in the field."

"When we played at Manila we arranged to use their pitcher and catcher, and let them have one of our batteries. After a couple of innings the people started booing. They didn't like the idea. They wanted to see just how their team would compare with ours. We had to start the game all over, and it was pretty close."

"I'll never forget the hotel at Manila. I woke up one night and heard a noise like squack-squack, something like a frog. I jumped out of bed and turned on the lights, and on the ceiling were chameleons—about six inches long."

"I was afraid of them so I ran into the bathroom and soaked a towel in water and began heaving it at the lizards on the ceiling. I hit about three of them."

Asked About Williams
The next morning I told the hotel manager about it, and he said not to tell anybody else or everyone would want my room. He said the lizards killed the mosquitoes.

"I just finished making out my income tax. Say, it's terrific, isn't it? If they take fifteen per cent more like they've been talking about I'll be pitching for nothing."

"Wonder if that Williams is in the army yet. Have any trouble with him? Hah, I guess all the pitchers had trouble with him. Say, Barrow looks good, doesn't he? I'm in fine shape. Been working out every day. How was my hitting last year? Gee, I stunk again, as usual."

"Well, I've got to be going now. I'm leaving tomorrow for St. Pete. Driving down with my wife and kid and a dog. So long."

And the Goofy One flashed that engaging smile which transforms his vinegar puss into a tooth-paste add, wrapped himself in a huge overcoat, and ambled away.

Bruce High Boys And Barton Girls Win WMI Clashes

Westernport Five Averages Extra-Period Loss Earlier in Season

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 13—Bruce and Barton high school basketball teams divided a Western Maryland Intercollegiate League doubleheader here tonight with the local boys winning 32-23 with a rally in the final period, and the Barton lassies finishing on top, 21-12.

Coach "Chip" Grindie's Bruce five, in averaging an extra-period loss to Barton, held a 13-7 advantage at the quarter but trailed 16-15 at the half. At the end of three periods, the figures were deadlocked 21-21. In the last heat, Bruce cut the cords for eleven points with Derham leading the attack while Barton was limited to two tallies.

Derham was high scorer with a dozen points on six baskets while Duckworth had eight tallies for the winners. Schramm accounted for three of Barton's seven double-deckers.

The Barton victory in the girls' engagement enabled the visiting six to sweep the two-game series. Bruce didn't score a point in the first period, which ended 5-0, and trailed 13-7 at the half and 19-9 at the end of the third round. Inskip gathered fifteen points for Barton while Whitworth registered three of Bruce's five field goals.

The setback for Bruce followed a 27-10 victory over the Grantsville high combination last night. Tonight's lineup:

Ray Lenahan Wins In Baseball Golf Former Pirate Outclasses Diamond Stars To Win Tourney

By JOHN WILDS
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 13. (AP)—Ray Lenahan, a better golfer than ever he was a pitcher, out-classed the diamond stars today to win the baseball players golf championship by six strokes.

With the help of an eagle, he carded a one-over-par 73 on the final round for a fifty-four-hole total of 218.

Lenahan, 46-year-old providence, R. I., shirt salesman, served a brief hitch with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1918. His short diamond career ended with Springfield of the Eastern League in 1920.

A former Rhode Island state champion, he came down for the tournament because "I get a kick out of being around baseball players."

Second place went to the 1941 champion, Coach Merv Shea of the Detroit Tigers, who fired the most brilliant round of the event today—a two-under-par 70.

He would have made the race interesting except for a lapse to an 81 yesterday, when his putter went sour. The former catcher turned in four birdies today.

Two pre-tournament favorites—Heinie Manush, Greensboro Piedmont League manager, and Wes Ferrell, quick-tempered former big league pitcher—wound up in a tie for third at 228. Ferrell had a sparkling 74 in the finale to catch 74 gave him a 230 total.

Handley Judges Trim Hagerstown in CVAL
WINCHESTER, Va., Feb. 13.—The Handley High Judges, hoping for a Martinsburg victory over Fort Hill of Cumberland, Md., tonight at Martinsburg, rang up a 42-34 Cumberland Valley Athletic League victory over Hagerstown (Md.) high passers here tonight.

If Fort Hill would have lost, the Judges would still be in the running for the title but the Sentinel triumph sewed up the championship for the Cumberland school.

Handley, with Pope getting eight points and Scindivider seven, led 10-1, 21-8 and 30-10 at the quarters. Ed Hachtell had fifteen markers for Hagerstown.

Perry Believes Shaughnessy May Snag Yale Post

War Makes Football Situation at Stanford Uncertain

By LAWRENCE PERRY
NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—From the West Coast this writer receives word that Clark Shaughnessy has headed eastward. Is this significant in view of Yale's current search for a football coach qualified to play the part of Moses in leading the sons of Eli out of the bullrushes of gridiron defeat?

Shaughnessy's name has appeared prominently among prospects whom the Yale Alumni Football Committee has been considering as a candidate for recommendation to the university authorities as the proper man for the coaching job.

It well may be that Shag is available for the position and also it might well be that the graduate committee of which George Adece is the head would select him as its nominee. If so many a worse coach could be picked while, at the same time, who could name a more competent one?

Your correspondent has known Shag a long time—ever since the days when he was coaching at Tulane back in 1915. No sounder teacher of the gridiron game in all phases exists anywhere. Personally he is engaging and his character qualifies him as a moral as well as an athletic leader.

A Brilliant Career

Everyone knows how well he has done at Stanford in his two years administration and his value as an adviser to George Halas of the Chicago Bears when Shag was trying to make football elvans under adverse conditions at the University of Chicago has been publicly praised by the owner and coach of the Bears.

In view of war conditions the football situation at Stanford is uncertain. No one knows what will happen on the West Coast and while football will be played the conditions under which the sport will be conducted are uncertain.

The West Coast has had it that Shaughnessy would seriously consider any offer leading to a change of berths, provided, of course, the offer and the institution making it appealed to him.

Lois Little is an admirer of Shag. In this connection it should be said that Lois's association with Yale has throughout been purely an advisory one. He never was asked to stand as a candidate for the job at New Haven; only because it was known how firmly he is established at Columbia and how contented he is there. Nor will he be asked for the above reason. Were he known to be receptive to the Yale coaching post all chances are he would consent to the submission of his name. On Lois's part it may be said he is not receptive.

No Power To Act

This Yale Alumni Football Committee, by the way, has no power to appoint a coach. Its function is merely an advisory one. The fact that it presented to the university the name of a man who in the committee's opinion was best qualified to teach football and to inspire players would not necessarily mean that that man would be appointed. The Adece group's function is simply one of making a suggestion and then disbanding. — Consolidated News Features.

Navy Five Seeks Third Win in Row

Middies Oppose W. and M.—Annapolis Matmen Meet Temple

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 15. (AP)—Navy's rapidly improving basketballers, who exhibited unexpected scoring power in their last two starts, seek their third successive victory against William and Mary's Indians in the headline attraction of a seven-event sports program tomorrow at the Naval Academy.

While the Middle cagers look horns with the Southern Conference representatives, two other varsity contingents, both bent on preserving victory chains, are slating for action along with four piebe teams.

Navy's wrestling squad, which surprised last week with a 32 to 5 triumph over Northwestern, hopes to notch its third win in five starts against Temple university. In the other varsity event, the Midshipmen's unbeaten fencing team trades thrusts and parries with its fourth foe of the year, New York university.

Riding the crest of a victory wave made possible by its ability to gang up on opponents, Navy's quint faces the Southern Conference's most formidable scoring threat in W. and M.'s Glenn Knox. The Indian forward has maintained an average of 16.4 points per game since the season's outset. Last Wednesday Navy showed a total lack of respect for individual reputations, walking over Maryland's Ernie Travis and drubbing the Terps, 61 to 47.

Beaten out a year ago by Tom East in a stunning upset, Norwood "Barney" Ewell, Penn State's Triple JC 4-A champion and national collegiate 100-yard dash titleholder, came back tonight to win the fifty-yard sprint.

Ewell got away fast and led throughout to triumph by a yard

Human Guinea Pigs Risk Life and Limb To Eliminate Terrors Haunting Skiers

Alta, Utah, (Wide World) — If a guinea pig came sliding down Rustler mountain on skis no eyebrow would be lifted in Alta. This is experiment headquarters where United States foresters are trying to take some of the danger out of skiing.

They hope, principally, to find out what causes a snow bank to "run" unexpectedly, or an ice "cornice" to fall. Such things throw terror into the heart of skiers, hardy citizens though they be. Death frequently rides with the slide if it catches a covey of ski riders unawares.

Alta is an ideal place for ski studies. The village has no permanent residents. It nestles among the crags of the Wasatch forest whose glistening runs come cascading down two-mile high mountains. On a winter Sunday the stretcher crews brought in six broken leg cases.

The casualty problem has mounted out west in ratio to the skyrocketing popularity of winter sports. In the Wasatch forest only 900 winter sportsmen were counted in 1935-36. Last winter there were 133,092 visitors. It's the third most popular national forest winter center.

Score Have Died

The slide that struck from the slope of Rustler mountain on New Year day, 1941, is typical of the danger that lurks on ski trails.

Its roar was scant warning for the mass of snow, rocks and timber that came avalanching down, and piled debris fifty feet deep and a quarter mile wide at the mountain base.

In a period of sixty-seven years, 141 persons have been killed in Utah snow slides, like the Rustler mountain one.

Experts said it was almost impossible to predict slides with great accuracy but the Alta skiers and James E. Gurr, Wasatch forest supervisor, decided to try.

Research disclosed slides are apt to occur most frequently on steep, high-altitude slopes.

The United States weather bureau studied records—including data on an avalanche that killed 40 persons in 1926 and the slide that wiped Alta off the map, with 15 deaths—to learn the relationship of temperature and fresh snow fall to snow movements.

Analysis of the data indicated some slides might be forecast. Three forest service employees were assigned to study snow conditions and the weather daily. CCC boys helped assemble information.

A system of forecasting that perhaps can be applied to other ski courses has been developed. Its success at Alta is indicated by the fact that it has been more than a year, and most of the "slide" season is past, since a death has occurred.

Now whenever conditions become critical, the road to the ski area

Kane Wins Mile Race Featuring Penn A. C. Games

Rice and Beetham Establish New Meet Records at Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13. (AP)—A brilliant sprint in the final 100 yards gave Campbell Kane, Indiana university's national collegiate mile champion, a victory by inches over John Borican, world's record-holder at 600 and 1,000 yards, in the Penn A. C. — Hialema indoor track meet at Convention Hall tonight.

Borican looked like the winner with only one lap to go in the twelve lap race but Kane, starting his bid on the back stretch and drawing even on the final turn, managed to surge at the tape to win by the smallest of margins.

The time of 4:19.1 was disappointing to the crowd of 4,000 but what the race lacked in speed, it made up for the thrilling finish.

James Rafferty, of the New York Athletic club, who set the pace midway in the race, was third and Norman Gordon, of Penn State, fourth.

Two meet records were broken as Greg Rice, world's indoor record-holder, lowered the two-mile standard in 8:59.5 and Charles Beetham, National A.A.U. 880-yard champion, bettered the 880 yard run mark in 1:55.1.

Strong Finishes
Rice, allowing Fred Wilt of Indiana and Joe McCluskey, New York A. C. veteran, to set the pace in the early stages of the race, put on a terrific sprint in the last three laps. His time marked the first occasion nine minutes was bettered for the distance in Philadelphia.

The old meet record was Rice's 9:06.3. Wilt was second and McCluskey third.

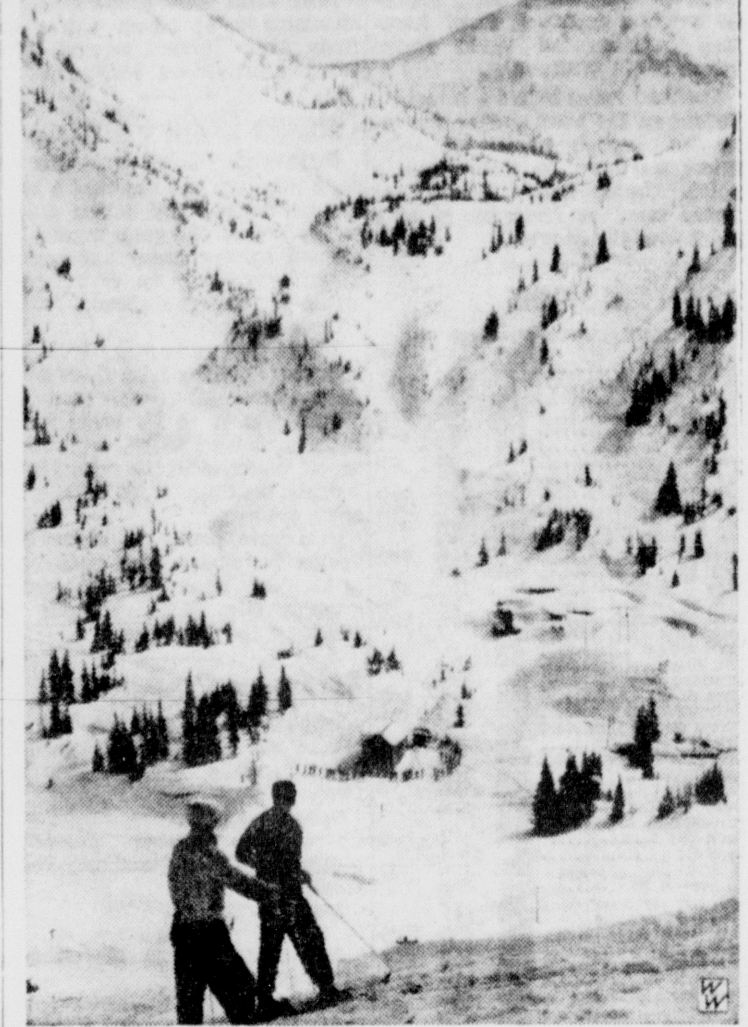

Beetham also waited until near the end of his race before he passed the early leaders. Ed Burrows, former Princeton star, led at the start and then Gene Venze, of New York A. C., took over with three laps remaining. Beetham drew ahead on the bell lap and finished in 1:55.1, one and seven-tenths seconds under the mark he set last year.

Venze was second, twenty yards behind, and F.R. Sickinger of Manhattan college, placed third as Burrows faded.

A third meet record was broken when Fordham's crack two-mile relay team of Andrew Lawrence, Joseph Novicki, Edward Shine, and Frank Leary defeated Seton Hall, last year's winner, by six yards in 7:46.3. The old mark of 8:05.4 was set by Seton Hall in 1941.

Ewell Wins Sprint
Beaten out a year ago by Tom East in a stunning upset, Norwood "Barney" Ewell, Penn State's Triple JC 4-A champion and national collegiate 100-yard dash titleholder, came back tonight to win the fifty-yard sprint.

Alta . . . where danger and human guinea pigs ride the trail is barricaded. This may happen several times a winter. Everyone is kept out of the area.

A loud speaker system has been installed at Alta lodge and rangers, on constant watch, recall skiers who stray near dangerous areas.

A siren was installed and this screams a warning of approaching blizzards or the sudden formation of slide conditions.

All dangerous slide areas were marked permanently. In addition a phonographic bulletin board was installed or slide conditions is promptly marked upon it.

With its program, Alta hopes to point the way to ski safety for the whole nation.

Analysis of the data indicated some slides might be forecast. Three forest service employees were assigned to study snow conditions and the weather daily. CCC boys helped assemble information.

A system of forecasting that perhaps can be applied to other ski courses has been developed. Its success at Alta is indicated by the fact that it has been more than a year, and most of the "slide" season is past, since a death has occurred.

Judson Bailey's Baseball Banter

By JUDSON BAILEY
NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP) — Even though Larry MacPhail expects to see Dolph Camilli, Dixie Walker, Joe Medwick and the other unsigned Brooklyn Dodgers personally next week to discuss salary terms, the club had to mail contracts today to their last known addresses . . . Under baseball law, if a major league club doesn't mail a contract to a player by February 15 the player automatically becomes a free agent . . . Medwick is expected to take a cut from the $20,000 salary he has drawn in recent years.

He offered to let MacPhail revise contract downward last summer, but Larry refused with the comment that Medwick was trying $20,000 worth, even if he wasn't producing that high . . . Muscles had an off year, but even so batted .318 and did better in the field than he is accustomed.

Gene DeSauteles, the red-head who figures to be Cleveland's regular catcher now that Rolfe Hemslay has been traded to Cincinnati, has rejected the first contract offered him by the Indians . . . Says he isn't a holdout — just wants more money . . . The Dodgers have decided to split their squad for a week in March and fill some exhibition dates with a combination Brooklyn-Montreal team . . . Mrs. John McGraw says next to Christie Mathewson, Mel Ott was her husband's favorite ball player . . . Now that Cookie Lavagetto has forsaken the Dodgers for the naval air service he says the St. Louis Cardinals look like the team that ought to win the National League pennant this year.

Vince DiMaggio gives Paul Waner credit for improving his (Vince's) hitting . . . The Washington Senators' training camp roster arrived today with old Ossie Bluege still listed as a coach . . . Maybe Clark Griffith was just kidding about getting him into shape for playing . . . The Senators list four coaches to the lead the major leagues in this department . . . Connie Mack is offering attendance bonuses to some of his high salaried players to get them into line and already has signed Jack Knott on that basis . . . After Lefty Gomez signed his Yankee contract yesterday for the thirteenth season he said maybe he should have waited till today, Friday the thirteenth . . . "Maybe that would be an omen," he cracked, "or ominous."

and a half over Donald Dolbin, a Penn State teammate. East, former Cheyney (Pa.) Teachers' college star, was third, and John Dicarilo, Villanova, fourth.

Ewell thus repeated his triumph of 1939 and 1940. His time of 5.4 seconds was three tenths of a second behind the world's indoor mark he set in 1939.

Fred Wolcott, of Rice, captured the fifty-yard high hurdles in 6.2 seconds.

Conn Captures Easy Decision Over Tony Zale

Pittsburgh Scrapper Wins Going Away from Start to Finish

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—Like a kid with a new toy he found under his Christmas tree, Billy Conn played with little Tony Zale for a dozen rounds tonight and galloped to an easy decision in Madison Square Garden. Conn weighed 175 1/2; Zale 164 1/2.

Despite the withering body attack for which Zale is famous, and which he kept firing all the way, Conn won going away from start to finish. And he did it in spite of a performance that was at times slow and at times lackadaisical. Only when he got his "Irish up" and tore in at the middleweight champion did he draw cheers from the crowd.

Three times he let his temper give some zing to his attack, and on each occasion he had Zale hurt. The rest of the way it was a slow mauling match, with Tony trying but not able to do much about it. The Associated Press score card gave Conn ten rounds and Zale two.

Different Conn

Compared to the thirteen-round performance in which he barely missed taking Joe Louis's heavyweight championship last June, this was a strictly different Conn, one who appeared, for the most part, content to pull out the decision.

And, unless he gets his machine in high gear again for his planned return match with the Bomber this June, he's going to need more than what he showed tonight.

Only when he opened up did he look like the Billy of last summer. The first time this happened was the seventh round, after Zale drew a slight bleeding from the Pittsburgh pretty boy's mouth with a hard hook. To show he didn't lack the taste, Billy ripped in with both hands flying, caught the Gas (Ind.) "Man of Steel" with a hard flush on the jaw, followed it up with a barrage and definitely staggered him.

For the first time, the crowd of 15,033 was on its feet cheering after several previous whistled pleas for action.

$48,000.67 Gate

In the ninth round, Billy's "Irish" again dictated his battle. Zale connected

Draft Machinery in Readiness for Registration

100 Principals and Teachers Assigned to 41 Centers in County

Allegheny county's draft machinery is in "complete readiness" for the three-day registration of men in the twenty to forty-four age brackets which begins today, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday.

Forty of the forty-five public schools and one parochial school will be used as the registration centers and approximately 500 principals and teachers will act as registrars, Kopp said.

Registration centers are announced by the county superintendent in advance.

Local Board No. 1

Humboldt, Virginia Avenue, Johnstown Heights, Pennsylvania Avenue, Port Hill, Oldtown, Flintstone, Piney Plains and Green Ridge.

Local Board No. 2

Gephart, Columbia street, Centre street, LaSalle, Maryland Avenue, East Side and Carver.

Local Board No. 3

West Side, Mt. Royal, Allegheny, LaVale, Paper Mill, Corriaville, Ellerslie, Barreille and Cresap-town.

Local Board No. 4

Mt. Savage, Dutch Hollow, Eckhart, Vale Summit-Loarstown, Beall elementary, Hill street, Midland, Jackson, Central, Barton, Moscow, Pekin, Hammond street, Bruce, Luke and McCoolle.

Kopp emphasized the fact that there will be no registration at the new Beall high school, Frostburg; Loarstown, Rockville, Detmold or Lincoln schools.

Hours Are Designated

The hours for registration in the Allegheny county schools will be today from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Sunday from 1 to 5 p. m., and Monday from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Men can register at the school most convenient to their residence. Any person who must register away from home is warned to carefully specify his home address so that his registration card may be forwarded promptly to his own local board and to insure that he will be included among its registrants and in his quotas if he is found to be qualified for military service. As many men as possible are urged to register in Allegheny county today and tomorrow to avoid a last minute rush to the centers on Monday, the final day.

Asked for Three Days

Although Monday, February 16 is the official date for national registration, Maryland requested a three-day period to eliminate the necessity of interrupting defense industries by causing workers to stand in line several hours when they could be at their job-stations. Maryland, according to Governor Herbert R. O'Connor was the first state to ask for the two additional days although numerous other states since have followed suit.

Must Choose One Place

A registrant who has more than one place of residence may choose which one he wants recorded as his place of residence for he thus will

Kelley Appointed Registrar in City Replacing Fuller

First Registration Day for New Voters Scheduled Here Monday

Appointment of John R. Kelley, of 727 Maryland avenue, as registrar for Ward 6, Precinct 1, for the registration of new voters, February 16 and 23, the primary election March 3 and the general election March 17, was announced yesterday by the Allegheny County Board of Election Supervisors.

Kelley, who is commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will replace Clifton E. Fuller, who has taken out petition papers at city hall and plans to become a candidate for the city council in the municipal contest next month.

Fuller has been a city registrar for approximately thirty-five years, having made his debut in 1907 when one of the local election precincts was located in a blacksmith shop on South Centre street.

Ward 6, Precinct 1, located at the residence of Hanson Rice, 723 Maryland avenue, and nineteen other polling places in the city will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., for the registration of new voters on Monday, February 16 and Monday, February 23.

Friday the Thirteenth Holds No Terrors for Thirteen Couples Here

Despite the Friday the Thirteenth hoodoo thirteen "unsuspicious" couples made application for marriage licenses yesterday at the court house, according to Robert Jackson, clerk of court.

"It's a strange coincidence but thirteen couples made application last year and none of them have landed in the divorce courts as yet," Jackson jokingly remarked.

Legislators Reply To Tax Protests

Raddcliffe, Doughton and Byron To Give It Consideration

Effects of the proposed federal tax on municipal bonds must be carefully studied, United States Senator George L. Raddcliffe, advised in a letter yesterday to the mayor and city council.

Raddcliffe's letter was in reply to a resolution adopted on February 2 by the mayor and council, protesting such a tax on municipal bonds as proposed last month by the United States Treasury department.

"Now that the Federal government is beginning to tax its own securities, undoubtedly renewed efforts will be made to widen the field of taxation as to state and municipal bonds," Raddcliffe wrote.

"There is no doubt of the fact that such taxation would increase materially the difficulties of the states, counties and cities in floating new issues of securities. These probable effects must certainly be scrutinized and studied very carefully."

Rep. Robert L. Doughton, of the House Ways and Means committee, wrote: "Please be assured that the resolution will be called to the attention of the committee should any legislation of this nature be taken up for consideration."

Rep. Katherine E. Byron, of the Sixth Maryland district, in reply to the resolution of protest, said: "I will be glad to look into this with your views in mind."

Heavier Stocking Of Evitts Creek Impossible Now

Game Officials Reveal Replenishing of Proven Streams To Be Difficult

It is practically impossible to meet the request of Allegheny county sportsmen for heavier stocking of Evitts creek and smaller trout streams in the county, according to Maryland game officials.

The Associated Press quoted officials of the state game and inland fish commission as opposing the proposal as impracticable because of the dire need of re-stocking proven waters. These officials were quoted as stating that they would have difficulty re-stocking some of the state's best trout streams which were depleted by drought conditions last summer.

Chief Clerk Frank L. Bentz of the game and inland fish commission declared, "Big Hunting Creek, Middle creek and Fishing creek in Frederick county are three of our best streams, but we'll have to start from scratch to bring them back."

Allegheny county sportsmen called for stocking of smaller streams because they pointed out, tire-rattling would prevent them from driving any great distance to fish. The recommendation for heavy stocking of Mill run in the Barton area and of Flintstone creek was formally made to the commission by its Allegheny County Advisory Council.

George Kight Pays Fine for Speeding

George Byron Kight, 751 Maryland avenue, paid a fine of $1.75 in trial magistrates court yesterday after pleading guilty, at a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdue, to a charge of exceeding the speed limit in a thirty mile zone.

Charges were preferred by Trooper Joseph White who arrested Kight Wednesday evening at 10:50 o'clock as he was driving fifty miles per hour on McMillen highway two miles south of this city.

Md. Congressmen Urged To Vole Against Continuing Dies Committee

Sent Letters by Maryland and District of Columbia CIO Council

Letters were sent yesterday to all Maryland congressmen by the executive officers of the Maryland and District of Columbia Industrial Union Council, urging the elimination of the Dies committee, approval of the 300 million dollar special appropriation for unemployment compensation and full and active support of the administration's policies in prosecuting the war effort.

At the outset the letter said "The Maryland members of Congress have an opportunity to strike a blow against Hitlerism by voting against the continuation of the Dies Committee."

"We are writing in support of the position taken by the National Executive Board of the CIO urging discontinuance particularly addressing itself to the undesirability of such a committee being headed by Rep. Martin Dies."

"We suggest that if Congress believes it desirable to institute an investigation of un-American activi-

List of Aliens Hired by County, City Asked by VFW

Suggests Positions Be Filled by Deserving and Qualified Citizens

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, today was awaiting replies from city and county officials to letters requesting that they furnish lists of all aliens on the public payrolls.

The letters, bearing the signatures of Thomas K. Whalley, post adjutant, were mailed Thursday to the mayor and city council of Cumberland, the board of county commissioners and the board of education.

Each of the governmental agencies is asked to submit to the VFW the names of all aliens being paid out of tax monies, together with amount of salary they are receiving, their duties, their nationality, how long they have been in the United States and what steps, if any, they have taken to become American citizens.

The communication sent to the county commissioners states that "we have been advised that several departments of the Allegheny county government are employing aliens, both enemy and non-enemy. . . . We feel that a very excellent reason should be given the taxpayers of this county as to why any alien should be employed when there are even now so many deserving and qualified citizens still listed among the unemployed."

The letter to the board of education asserts that the VFW has learned that "a number of aliens" have been employed by that body and adds that it is understood that one of them was hired to replace a citizen now in the United States army.

"This organization," the letter goes on, "is . . . 100 per cent American, and we feel that any vacancies in the schools of this county, particularly Allegheny county, should be filled by American citizens."

The communication merely requests the city government merely request the information as to whether any aliens are on the city payroll and does not indicate that there are.

Conlon Is Candidate For Mayor; Clark Takes Out Petition Papers

Thomas P. Conlon became Cumberland's first official candidate for mayor yesterday when his petition papers were approved at city hall by Samuel E. Griminger, city clerk.

At the same time Griminger announced that petition papers were issued to Cecil E. Clark, Celanese employee, who said that he plans to become a candidate for city council. Clark, who resides at 40 Brown- ing street, was a candidate in 1936 and 1938 and was eliminated in both primary contests.

Clark is the eighth candidate to take out papers for the council- manic race. Five have already filed papers qualifying to have their names placed on the ballot.

Injured in Fall

Mrs. Stanley Longdon, Long was admitted to Allegheny hospital yesterday suffering injuries to her left shoulder as a result of a fall down a flight of steps at her home.

She is recovering from her injuries at the Allegheny hospital.

The letter attacks the record of Dies saying that he has attacked bona fide labor organizations at precisely such times when these unions were engaged in critical dealings with employers. The council charges his record smears all that is liberal and progressive in the policies of the federal administration, and that he has attempted to harass the president in the prosecution of the war effort and today ranks as the most favorably and off-quoted propaganda mouthpiece of the Axis nations.

The letter urges the Maryland representatives in Congress to give "active and public support to the administration proposals providing for an emergency grant of 300 million dollars to increase present inadequate unemployment compensation benefits."

"We are not supporting in that connection H. R. 6559 since it falls short of the recommendations of the president's committee to the Speaker of the House Jan. 19, 1942. His recommendations provided for combined state and federal pay-

Edmund S. Burke Named Chairman Of Y Committee

Somerville Nicholson Is Appointed Secretary of Re-organization Group

Edmund S. Burke was named chairman of the Re-organization committee for Central Y.M.C.A. at a meeting last night. Charles A. Piper was named vice chairman and Somerville Nicholson was named secretary.

F. Allan Weatherholt, who was campaign director in the recent drive to "Save the Y" was appointed business secretary of the institution and will handle all financial matters and plans for an enlarged membership, Burke announced.

William H. Lewis will continue as general secretary of the "Y" and be in charge of directing the association's work. In addition, two other committees were named to further the work of making the "Y" a potent factor in Cumberland's civic advancement.

To Entice "Y" Activities

A committee to draw up a new constitution and by-laws to revive and enlarge the scope of the institution's activities was named with Edmund R. Allen as chairman and James Alfred Alvret and Benjamin W. O'Rourke as members.

A financial committee with William J. Edwards as chairman and Henry W. Price and Harvey H. Weiss members was named to delve into the financial background of the "Y" and following a complete audit of the report as of January 31, 1942, this committee will make a survey of the building and recommend

Two Certificates For 1942 Autos Are Issued Here

Applications Must Be Filed by Feb. 26; Three Get Papers for Tires

Certificates for the acquisition of new passenger automobiles purchased on or before January 1, 1942, were issued yesterday to two local persons by Allegheny County Rationing Board No. 1 at its office in the Liberty Trust building.

Those receiving certificates were James Ambrose Martin, of 208 Wallace street, an employee of the Western Maryland Railway, and Tasker G. Lowndes, of 71 Baltimore street, president of the Second National Bank.

Valid contracts to show that both applicants had signed orders for new cars and made deposits on same before January 1 were presented by Howard W. Gilsan, of Gilsan's garage.

Robert E. Barnard, administrator of the board, said that all applications must be filed by the dealer and purchaser before February 26, the date on which automobile rationing becomes effective. It is understood that as high as seventy-five passenger cars have been contracted for prior to January 1 and certificates must be issued for each car by the board.

Certificates also were issued yesterday for five automobile tires and a like number of tubes. The board announced that it had reached its quota of sixteen tires for the first half of the month. Thirty-two passenger car tires is the board's allotment for the month of February.

Receive Tire Certificates

Those receiving the necessary papers were William P. Roeder, of Henderson avenue, for one trailer tire and tube, 750 x 15, for transportation of a power shovel used in excavating on public works and roads; Frank Filippo Gigliotti, of Kelly Boulevard, two obsolete tires and tubes, 325-550-19 for use on truck for the delivery of groceries; and Jacob Oscar Mullenix, of RFD 2, Cumberland, two truck tires and tubes, 32 x 6, for use in hauling coal and mine timber.

WPA Advertises Bids For the Black-Topping Of Airport Runway

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, yesterday announced that the Procurement Division of the Works Projects Administration is advertising for bids for the black-topping of the No. 1 runway at the Cumberland municipal airport in Wiley Ford, W. Va.

Plans and specifications as drawn by the Hagerstown office of the WPA call for the black-topping of the landing strip 4,300 feet long and 150 feet wide.

Local WPA officials expressed the hope that the work will get under way about April 1, depending on the weather.

Basile Is Hurt

John Basile, 50, proprietor of the Cumberland Shoe Shop, 121 North Mechanic street, was treated in Allegheny hospital yesterday for a severe cut of the right thumb.

Hospital attendants were told the injury was suffered when the local man's knife slipped as he was cutting leather to repair a pair of shoes in his shop.

War Relief Drive Of Red Cross Approaches Goal

Collections of $20,875 Reported; Judge Sloan Addresses Workers

Workers in the drive to secure $25,000 as Cumberland's quota for Red Cross war relief still need almost $5,000 to reach their goal.

Reports at last night's dinner-meeting at Central Y.M.C.A. revealed a total of $20,875 has been raised so far. Three leaders in the drive in county towns gave partial reports of how the drive was being carried on in their communities.

Mrs. Clarence Thomas of Eckhart reports a total of $466.51 has been raised in that town, an excellent record considering the number of persons residing there. Thomas Elias of Frostburg said over $1,000 has been obtained there and he had no doubts of eventual success of the campaign in the county. Miss Eleanor Sloan of Lonaconing said her organization would come out on top and report a large sum by the end of next week.

Locust Grove Remembers

One report illustrated how people of a community aided by the Red Cross do not forget. The little settlement of Locust Grove, which was almost completely destroyed in the 1936 flood raised $17 for the fund. $7 was donated by eighteen pupils of the Paper Mill Bridge school and the balance by the Parent-Teacher Association. Many families were aided by the Red Cross following the flood there in 1936.

The county commissioners contributed $2,500 to the fund yesterday and the City of Cumberland has given $1,000 from Sunday movie

Barney Dowling says the new War Time is all right, but someone is going to have to tell the roosters about it.

Civilian defense is a serious business, of course, but we Americans are inclined to joke about everything and here's one fellow's humorous advice about it:

When the air raid alarm sounds:

- 1-If in a bakery grab a pie, a theater grab a blonde, a tavern grab a beer.
- 2-Always run over everyone you can yelling at the top of your voice. It won't do any good but it will scare the children.
- 3-Slap the air raid warden. He is just trying to save the best seats in the shelter for his friends and himself.
- 4-Always eat onions and garlic before going into a crowded shelter. You will have more room.
- 5-If you are hit by a bomb, just lie quietly and wait for the trashman.
- 6-If you see an incendiary, throw gasoline on it. The gasoline won't put out the fire but the results will create excitement.

What's in a name? Not too much, argue the Boy Scouts of America. The Emergency Service Corps, organized in 1940 is thought by many to be a new idea. It isn't. Only the name is new to Scouting. Originally designed to provide an outlet for the ability of boys over Boy Scout age (fifteen years), it is an outgrowth of the thirty-two year practice of Scouting to "Be Prepared."

However, with war at our doorstep the Emergency Service Corps becomes an important unit in home defense. While membership in the corps itself is restricted to boys fifteen years of age and over, all the skills they learn can be learned, and often are learned, within the patrol of the regular Scout Troop, by boys under fifteen.

While no one wishes to see the war come to our own cities and towns, the Emergency Service Corps is ready to render extensive assistance in the event of any disaster such as flood, tornado or fire, in first aid, fire fighting, mass feeding and housing, communications, messenger service, water rescue and many other services. Older boys receive training in the handling of charged electric wires, management of mechanical equipment, etc.

Today this sort of information strikes a responsive chord in the average citizen. Little does he realize that this sort of thing does not blossom overnight. Rather it results from years—literally a generation of Scouting.

During the first World War Boy Scouts rendered such services wherever and whenever needed. Since that time local and national emergencies have seen Boy Scouts on the scene trained and ready to render service from first aid to communications.

Boy Scouts are prepared.

Ridgeley Men Register For Draft Monday at Firemen's Hall

Registration of Ridgeley, W. Va., men for the draft will take place Monday between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. at the Firemen's hall, it was announced last night by J. H. Simmons, chief registrar.

Simmons will be aided in registering all men eligible by a staff of eight clerks. Men living on the outskirts of Ridgeley will also be registered at this time, Simmons said.

All unregistered men between 20 and 44 years of age must register. If any man is in doubt as to whether or not he must register he is advised to contact the draft officials and register if they deem it advisable. Simmons added. Male aliens are included in the provisions for registering.

Two War Veterans Appointed Guards At Local Airport

Harry Clark and Gerald Brode Named; Importance of Port Is Stressed

Two veterans of World War No. 1, who suffered wounds on the battlefields of France, yesterday were appointed as additional guards at the Mexico Farms airport at a meeting of the mayor and city council and a committee of the Cumberland Pilots' Club in city hall.

The men appointed on the recommendation of the four city commissioners are Harry Clark and Gerald Brode, both of this city.

Clark Won the D.S.C.

Clark served as custodian of the state armory on South Centre street for many years after returning from overseas where he won the Distinguished Service Cross. He held the rank of sergeant in the army.

The new appointees will be sworn in before the clerk of the court and will take over their duties Monday, February 16. Each man will be required to be on duty twelve hours each day and will receive a salary of $80 a month.

Appointment of Clark and Brode increased to four the number of guards assigned to the local airport. Guards already on duty are Peter Schultz, a World War veteran and Alvon P. Sherlock.

CAA Official Attends

Alton L. Tucker, of Pittsburgh, a representative of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, attended the meeting and explained the importance of the Mexico Farms airport in the present war set-up.

Tucker stated that under new government regulations the airport must be properly guarded or the field will be shut down, all planes put out of commission and dismantled. Once an airport is closed it's no easy matter in obtaining permission to have it reopened, Tucker declared.

Ben Terry, a member of the Cumberland Pilots' Club committee, in stressing the importance of the location of the airport here, said that the field should be kept open at all times due to the fact that the mountainous region west of Cumberland has been labeled the "average."

Three Men Enlist In Army at Local Recruiting Office

Three men enlisted in the United States Army yesterday at the local recruiting station. Gabriel Chabot, of Coalition, W. Va., former employee of the West Virginia State Roads Commission, was assigned to the finance department of Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Edward T. Joyce, of 432 Grand avenue, former catcher on the old B. and O. railroad team here enlisted and Edward L. Malampy, of 27 Front street, re-enlisted. Both were unassigned.

Auto Dealers Are Advised To File Inventories of Stock Before Feb. 19

Three Have Already Reported to Rationing Board in Cumberland

Auto dealers and others having supplies of 1942 automobiles are reminded that they must file inventories of their stock with their local rationing boards before Thursday, February 19.

In spite of the fact that such a notice was previously issued only three of the approximately fifteen dealers in the Cumberland area have filed inventories with Allegheny County Rationing Board No. 1-1. It was announced yesterday at the office of the board in the Liberty Trust building. Dealers not having the necessary forms may obtain same at the local office.

Lists Those Affected

Leo H. McCormick acting regional director for the Office of Price Administration in Philadelphia said the requirements for inventories affect every person or firm who, on February 11, was holding for sale or transfer any 1942 model cars or trucks or cars of trucks of other

91 Per Cent of Tax Levy Is Collected

Expenditures of City Departments Total $351,497 for Ten Months

Ninety one per cent of the 1941-42 tax levy for the City of Cumberland was collected as of January 31 according to the monthly financial statement issued yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The figures at the close of the tenth month of the fiscal year showed that out of a total tax levy of $525,900, the sum of $478,771.79 has been collected leaving a balance of $47,128 for the two remaining months.

Out of a total levy of $606,530, the amount of $556,588.51 was collected on January 31.

Eighty per cent or $351,497.90 out of an appropriation of $438,001.17 was expended by the city departments over a period of ten months, the report indicated. A balance of $87,144.61 is shown for the operation of city departments in the months of February and March.

Three accounts overdrawn are Civil Service Commission, $20; mosquito control, $132.86 and parks, $488.48.

Local Jaycees Are Informed War Hero Chosen for Award

Distinguished Medal Posthumously Presented Capt. C. P. Kelly

Capt. Colin P. Kelly, Army Air Corps flyer who sank the 39,000-ton Japanese battleship, Haruna, in the early days of the war, has been posthumously awarded the 1941 Distinguished Service Award of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, officers of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce were advised yesterday.

The award is presented annually by the Junior Chamber to the man between the ages of 21 and 35 who, in the opinion of the judges, has made the most significant contribution to the welfare of the nation during the year.

The Junior Chamber formally presented the award at the Founders Day banquet of the Chicago Junior Association. Commerce Junior Chamber, vice president of the national organization, and it was accepted on behalf of the Air Corps and Mrs. Kelly by Col. Albert L. Sneed, of the Air Corps.

Judges who selected Captain Kelly for the posthumous honor included J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Albert W. Hawkes, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota; Dr. John R. Steelman, conciliator of the United States Department of Labor; Dale Carnegie, author and lecturer on leadership training; Felix B. Streyckmans, editor of "Future"; and Durward Howe, former USJCC president and author of "America's Young Men."

During January, almost one-third of the affiliates of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce honored young men in their communities who had rendered outstanding service during 1941. An unusual feature was the fact that in some fifty instances, the award was presented posthumously to men who had died in battle, while in many others, the award was dedicated to all who had gone into the armed forces from a particular community.

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce voted to defer award of its distinguished service key "for the duration."

Auto Dealers Are Advised To File Inventories of Stock Before Feb. 19

Three Have Already Reported to Rationing Board in Cumberland

Auto dealers and others having supplies of 1942 automobiles are reminded that they must file inventories of their stock with their local rationing boards before Thursday, February 19.

In spite of the fact that such a notice was previously issued only three of the approximately fifteen dealers in the Cumberland area have filed inventories with Allegheny County Rationing Board No. 1-1. It was announced yesterday at the office of the board in the Liberty Trust building. Dealers not having the necessary forms may obtain same at the local office
